GROUP TO SIT AT O. S. R. IN STATE INQUIRY

Attorney General Asks Huston To Call Jurors Immediately; Hearing Opens Monday.

PROBES LOCAL ANGLES

Duffy's Assistant to Conduct Investigation Here into State Parole System.

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS — (UP)—Welfare Director Margaret Allman was subpoenaed to appear before the special grand jury investigating paroles here, today. Mrs. Allman was summoned after Emmett Callahan, serving a 10 to 25 year prison term for a Cincinnati robbery, had testified. Previously Callahan had told reporters that a fellow prisoner at the London prison farm had told him that he paid $3,000 for a pardon.

Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston announced today that he would impanel a special grand jury tomorrow afternoon to conduct an investigation of the Ohio parole system at Mansfield reformatory.

Judge Huston received a request from Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy in Columbus for the calling of a jury immediately. Duffy informed Judge Huston that it would not be necessary, in the case of a special grand jury to advertise its convening for the six-day period usually required by law.

Draw Names at 2 P. M.

The names will be drawn at 2 p m. tomorrow by the jury commission, Clerk of Courts Fred Zellner, Sheriff E. P. Long and the judge.

Judge Huston said the jurors would be sworn in at the courthouse Monday morning, and would then go to the reformatory where they will hold their sessions.

It had been previously announced that George Hurley, an assistant attorney general, would be in charge of the Mansfield investigation. Similar grand juries are to be called, after the Mansfield angle of the investigation is concluded, in Union county, where Marysville reformatory for women is located, and in Madison county, where London prison farm is located.

Another special grand jury, in charge of Duffy, has been in session in Franklin county (Colum-

Roosevelt Calls Industrialists To Business Parley

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt asked five industrial chieftains to confer with him at the White House late today on the business recession.

Those invited for a 5 o'clock conference in the president's study were:

Alfred P Sloan, chairman of the board of General Motors corporation: Ernest P. Weir, chairman of the board of the National Steel corporation: Lewis Brown, president of Johns-Manville; M. W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, and Colby Chester, head of the General Foods corporation

White House officials said the meeting, largest of its kind since the president, in his message to congress, urged the co-operation of business, agriculture and labor in combatting the slump, would discuss the economic situation generally and how to improve it.

PLEA FOR BIRDS

Fish and Game Officials Ask City to Scatter Food.

Richland County Fish and Game association officials today appealed to residents to scatter food for birds unable to find food because of the heavy snow.

If the snow continues for any length of time, the bird population will be greatly reduced by starvation, John C. Friday, president of the association, stated He said that this applies not only to song birds, but quail and pheasants as well. Friday said association members were arranging to scatter food in places known to be frequented by quail.

YOUNG GUNNER SENTENCED

AKRON—(AP)—Ralph Sandrucci alias Fred Sunday, 19, alleged leader of a gang of young bandits, today was sentenced by Judge Oscar A. Hunsicker to 10 to 25 years in Mansfield reformatory.

Report Due On 'Curfew' In Few Days

Council Group Discusses Night Club Closing Problem 3 Hours.

Council's special committee considering the proposal to amend the night club "curfew" ordinance, conferred for three hours last night in preparation of issuance of their final report "within the next few days."

Emerging from their session with City Solicitor Marion D. Ward last night at the city building, members declined to say whether an amendment would be recommended to the present ordinance to extend the night club closing hour to 2:30 a. m. The present law calls for a 1 a. m. curfew for all liquor dispensing establishments

Russell D. Porch, chairman of the three-man committee said: "We have not yet reached a definite conclusion. However, we hope to meet within the next two days and draft our final recommendations to council."

Earlier Closing Seen.

Indications are that if any recommendations are made by the committee, they will call for an earlier closing hour instead of any extensions.

Porch stated that it was a weighty problem and that the fullest consideration was being given to the matter. The opinions of three judges in regard to the closing hours was considered, and Porch said they will carry considerable weight when the final report is drafted

The opinions were recently received by the committee from Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, Probate Judge C. J. Anderson, and Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston.

All three judges expressed themselves as being opposed to any extension of hours from those set up in the existing ordinance, which has never been enforced, however.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates who announced in December that the ordinance would be invoked and then granted night clubs a period of grace, because of contracts with orchestras and entertainers then in effect, is waiting the committee's report before starting enforcement of the measure. Permit holders have petitioned council to make it conform to state regulations, while churches have petitioned against any change in the existing measure.

RENEW FIGHT

War Referendum Backers Carry Issue to Elections.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Congressmen and peace organizations who supported the Ludlow war referendum proposal promised today that "the fight was just begun"—that they would carry the issue into the congressional elections this fall.

Four peace organizations—national council for prevention of war, women's international league for peace and freedom, world peaceways, and fellowship of reconciliation—criticized congressmen for following the administration's "dictatorial" foreign policy instead of the wishes of the people. In a statement, making known their plan for reprisals against opposition congressmen, they said:

"The fight for the war referendum has just begun. The people will have another chance this year to make their will known and elect representatives who will respond to the voice of the people and not to the crack of the administration's whip."

BLIZZARD ON WAY INTO OHIO

Major Storm Heading This Way, Says Forecast; 2 More Inches of Snow Falls.

The Richland county area called on its street and highway forces again today to clear away an additional 2 2 inches of snow which brought the county's snowfll to more than seven inches during the past 36 hours.

Meanwhile the threat of another storm, possibly one of blizzard proportions, faced Ohio and other mid-western states. Federal weather forecasters predicted a storm of "major importance in the Great Lakes region" probably will reach here tonight or Wednesday.

The disturbance was centered today over the northwestern states and is increasing in intensity as it moves eastward, the forecast said. If it strikes tomorrow, it will mark the 50th anniversary of the worst blizzard ever experienced in the middle-

But Albers, Rescued From Fire, Remains in Danger.

LANSING, Mich —(AP)—Bishop Joseph H Albers, who was rescued from his flame-swept living quarters here yesterday, was described by his physicians today as in "fair" condition, but not entirely out of danger

The bishop was being given oxygen treatments to guard against the possibility of pneumonia, hospital attendants said.

Barbara In Court to Tell About Fay's False Teeth

Actress Stanwyck, Fighting for Sole Custody of Son, Says Ex-Mate Loved New Molars Better Than Boy.

HOLLYWOOD—(U.P.)—Barbara Stanwyck clicked into court on three-inch heels today in hopes of proving that her former husband, Frank Fay, loves his beautiful new set of false teeth more than he does his adopted son, Dion.

Unless she is able to convince Judge G. J. Knight, Fay will be allowed to smile at five-year-old Dion—with those new molars—each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon, in accordance with their divorce agreement Miss Stanwyck demanded that the court keep Fay and his teeth away from Dion, forever more.

Charges Numerous.

Loving mother, owner of 50 race horses, girl friend of Robert Taylor and a movie actress until yesterday, when her studio suspended her for insubordination, the beauteous Barbara charged Fay with so many things that probably he's still blushing. He'll get his day in court later.

The courtroom fans were disappointed, when a woman accompanied the handsomely-turned-out-in-brown Miss Stanwyck They had expected the heart-throb Taylor. The woman identified herself as Mrs. Zeppo Marx, whose

ONE LEAVES

Ousted Custodian Gives Up City Building Post.

The new administration today had won at least one point in its fight to oust two colored custodians from their jobs at city hall, with the withdrawal of one of the men from his post yesterday afternoon.

Rev. Robert Robinson, appointed by former Mayor Earl A. McFarland, notified Mayor Claude M Hunter, that he was relinquishing his post to the new appointee. Robert E Staples, colored, 122 North Adams street.

The other custodian, Rev M. L. Gordon, a civil service employe was still on the job today, and declined to give up his post to Reno Watson, 51 Railroad street, chairman of a Democratic colored club, appointed by Hunter.

Hunter said today that Watson, who was at work yesterday, had been taken off the job until disposition of Gordon's case.

Hunter said that he had instructed James M. Herlihy, superintendent of the water works department to investigate the situation with the civil service commission to see what action might be necessary to remove Gordon.

WINS DECISION

Ex-Dean At Wilberforce Held Illegally Committed.

LIMA—(AP)—The third district court of appeals ruled today that Benjamin L Waits, colored, former dean of Wilberforce university, had been committed illegally to the Lima state hospital for criminally insane

Waits was committed in 1926 after being indicted in Franklin county on a charge of shooting at his wife with intent to kill.

500 RECALLED

PORTSMOUTH — (AP) — The Wheeling Steel corporation today recalled 500 employes to operate three open hearth furnaces idle since Oct. 26. The increase placed employment in the Portsmouth works at 1,500.

Insists Lindy Kidnaping Case Unsolved, Distributes Reward

TRENTON, N J —(AP)—Despite his division of $25,000 reward money among more than 1000 participants in the arrest and conviction of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Governor Harold G Hoffman still insisted today "that the case has not been completely solved"

Hoffman, whose reprieve of the convicted Bronx carpenter and self-directed investigation of the kidnap-slaying of the Lindbergh baby resulted in his censure on several fronts, said he was writing 10 articles for a national magazine because "I don't feel that the other side of the case, if there is one, has been told."

He announced division yesterday of the $25,000 reward appropriated by the New Jersey legislature. The largest share, $7,500 went to Walter Lyle of Elizabeth,

JAPS DEBATE FORMAL WAR DECLARATION

Emperor, Government, Military Aids Drafting Policy of Future Action in China.

MEET IN STRICT SECRECY

Tokyo Hears Nippon To Demand Surrender or Continue War Against Chinese.

TOKYO—(AP)—The highest government and military officials of Japan in imperial conference with the emperor today drafted formally "the empire's unshakable policy toward China"

The details of that policy and whether it contemplated a formal declaration of war against China, with whom Japan has fought in undeclared conflict for six months, were held in strictest secrecy

It was announced semi-officially that the Japanese government would issue within a few days a manifesto clarifying its future action in China.

Cabinet Advised.

Following the imperial conference, Premier Prince Fuminaro Konoye reported details there of to members of the cabinet advisory board who had waited at his residence.

War Minister General Gen Sugiyama returned to the emperor's palace in the afternoon for a separate audience, presumably linked with the imperial conference decision.

While the conference results were not known, one informant asserted that two alternatives were presented: China's surrender or continuance of the warfare.

Finance Minister Okimobu Kaya optimistically told cabinet colleagues that Japan would have no difficulties financing long-term hostilities

Today marked the first time since 1914 that Emperor Hirohito had presided in imperial conference and the fourth such conference in Japanese history

War also was the cause of these other conferences—in 1894 the Chinese-Japanese war, in 1904 the Russo-Japanese war, and in 1914 the world conflict

QUEEN WEAKER

Hope Given Up For Recovery Of Marie of Roumania.

VIENNA, Austria—(U.P.)—Dowager Queen Marie of Roumania gradually is becoming weaker and all hopes for her eventual recovery have been abandoned, reliable reports from Bucharest said today.

The 62-year-old mother of King Carol, regarded by many as the founder of "greater Roumania," has maintained her interest in politics and art despite intense suffering, it was said

In rare moments when she feels able to read she demands poetry but soon hands the book to a nurse who reads to her for hours The queen's hearing has been affected and sometimes she does not understand those near her, it was said.

WPA ADDS 250,000

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Acting Works Progress Administrator Aubrey Williams today advised President Roosevelt that between 250,000 and 300,000 persons had been added to WPA rolls since Dec. 1, bringing the total on WPA relief to 1,760,000

GOAT ROMPS IN N. Y. SKYSCRAPER

Leads Employes In Empire State Building on Merry Chase.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Today's livestock hero: El Senor, the white goat, who led staid business men, stenographers and office boys a merry chase on the 35th floor of the Empire State building.

Whether he sniffed a bit of alcohol, or seared his nose with turpentine is still a mystery, but anyway off he went down a long corridor, through four offices, out into the hall and downstairs to the 34th floor.

El Senor had been posing as an artist's model for a mural. Antonio Gattorno, artist, had tethered him to an overstuffed chair Gattorno finally caught him.

GREETS JUSTICES

Roosevelt Holds Reception Tonight for Court Members.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt will greet supreme court justices and their wives tonight at his annual reception for the judiciary.

Justice Cardozo, ill of heart disease, will not be able to attend. The other justices did not indicate in advance whether they would be present.

JUSTICE 'HOLDING OWN'

WASHINGTON— (U.P.) — Justice Benjamin N Cardozo "is holding his own although a little weaker than last night," his physician reported today.

SEARCHERS FIGHT BLIZZARD AFTER FINDING BODIES

Huge Snow Drifts Delaying Removal Of Victims Killed in Montana Hills as Airliner Dives To Earth; Breaks Out In Flames; Probe Launched.

BOZEMAN, Mont. — (AP) — A biting blizzard threw a snowy shroud today over the bodies of 10 persons killed when a Northwest Airlines plane crashed and burned in the Bridger mountains 14 miles north of here yesterday.

Piloted by Nick Mamer, who had flown more than 1,000,000 miles without injuring a passenger, the plane went into a tailspin and plunged nose-first into a small clearing. The nose was snapped off by impact with the frozen ground.

Searchers found all aboard dead, but the storm forced them to give up until later today the task of bringing the bodies here. A guard was left at the crash scene.

Gallatin county officials said snowplows would open the roads when the bodies are brought down by bobsled.

Two woodcutters, C. A. Larson and Glenn White, were working about 200 feet from where the plane crashed but were unable to approach because of the flames. They went immediately for help and met Sheriff Lovitt I. Westlake and a party of forest rangers.

Victims Listed.

Northwest Airlines officials in St. Paul listed the dead as: Mamer, Co-Pilot F. W. West and the following passengers:

W. E. Borgenheimer, about 39, Basin, Mont., who had cancelled a reservation on a later plane to speed to the bedside of his dying mother in Wisconsin. Word reached Basin about the time of the crash that the mother had died.

Lloyd Levin, 33, returning to his home at Detroit, after visiting his ill mother at Butte, Mont.

Al H. Croonquist, 47, of Billings, Mont., state traffic manager for the Montana-Wyoming [illegible] and chairman of the Montana Dude Ranchers association.

George A. Anderson of Seattle, territory sales supervisor for the B. F. Goodrich Rubber company.

Walter Ton, postal inspector, St. Paul.

Douglas Mackay, 37, clerk of the Canadian committee of the Hudson Bay company and former employe of the Canadian Press.

Ted Anderson, mechanic in the St. Paul shops of the Northwest Airlines.

I. E. Stevenson of Seattle.

Croll Hunter, president of Northwest Airlines, issued this statement at St. Paul:

"It has been determined that all on board lost their lives.

"Until a thorough investigation has been conducted by both the

WOMAN BEATEN IN RELIEF ROW

Victim in Hospital Seriously Injured; Colored Girl, 17, Admits Assault, Jailed.

A 17-year-old colored girl, who admitted assaulting Mrs. Jerome Hecht, 17½ West Second street, at the Richland county relief headquarters late yesterday, was held in the county detention home today under $500 bond pending a report on Mrs. Hecht's condition at General hospital.

Bond was set following a hearing this morning in county juvenile court before Judge C. J. Anderson, who continued the case until an X-ray examination is made of Mrs. Hecht's injuries.

It was believed that the injured woman suffered a skull fracture when her head struck the cement base of a gasoline pump at an Orange street filling station, across from the relief offices, where a second attack occured.

Witnesses said the altercation started when a door allegedly slammed in the girl's face after Mrs Hecht left the waiting room at the headquarters on Orange street.

The girl then followed Mrs. Hecht out of the office and struck her with her fists, police said. Mrs. Hecht's husband who was with her at the time of the assault, came to her rescue. His wife then went across the street to the filling station.

Breaking away from Hecht, the girl followed Mrs. Hecht and struck her again as she came out of the filling station, knocking the woman against a pump.

The girl was arrested by police on assault and battery charges filed by Hecht.

The attack, which occurred about 4.30 p. m., was witnessed by nearly a score of persons in the waiting room at the relief offices.

Miss Mildred Armstrong, county relief director, could not be reached for a statement, and others employed at the offices said they knew nothing of the details of the assault.

OFFERS RECESSION 'CURE'

NEW YORK —(AP)— Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the board of Chase National bank, declared today "a prompt and adequate modification of government policy regarding the capital market would make a major contribution to business revival."

Gasco Food Institute Opens Next Week at Ohio Theater

The Gasco Food Institute is coming to Mansfield again this winter and will conduct a cooking school for Mansfield housewives three days next week, in co-operation with the Ohio Fuel Gas company, the News-Journal and merchants of the city.

It will be presented at the Ohio theater on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, and will be open to residents of Mansfield and vicinity.

It will be an all-gas kitchen school, under the direction of Miss Katherine Thiele, home economist and an authority of gas cookery and refrigeration. She will be assisted by Miss Pauline Schofield, local home service representative of the Ohio Fuel Gas company, whose menus and recipes appear regularly on the New-Journal's food pages

The Gasco school is staged like a play, with Anywoman's kitchen as the setting. Donald Lowe, of the Gasco Institute, will be in charge of properties and stage arrangement.

An interesting feature, which was introduced last year and was very popular with Mansfield women, will be the appearance here on the final day of the school of Dr. Roy A. Burkhart, noted psychologist and home counselor, of Columbus.

A model all-gas kitchen will be set up on the stage, with range and refrigerator representing the new 1938 models. Miss Thiele will discuss cookery, plain and fancy and has prepared some interesting new recipes for Mansfield women.

HELD FOR QUIZ

Ex-Convict Gives Up In Gang Slaying At Youngstown.

CLEVELAND— (AP) —A man who surrendered voluntarily was held here today for Youngstown authorities for questioning concerning the gangland ride slaying last Sept 10 of Roy (Happy) Marino, paroled Ohio penitentiary convict.

Detectives Robert Jeffry and William Harrison, of Youngstown, had sought the man, a 28-year-old Cleveland ex-convict, for several weeks. He appeared last night at Central police station and asked if he was "wanted," Detective Sergeant James V. Hogan said.

The Youngstown officers said the ex-convict entered their investigation through an automobile license number believed to have been identified with a "black sedan" linked by witnesses to Marino's disappearance.

SPECIAL JURY TO BE DRAWN IN CITY TOMORROW

Richland Panel Will Conduct Investigation Into Parole System at Reformatory.

bus) since Nov. 23, inquiring into paroles and releases from Ohio penitentiary.

Reformatory records are expected to be inspected by the Richland county jury, and it is also expected that a number of former inmates will be questioned.

Assistant Prosecutor Harold T. Lutz said that he had received no word from Duffy concerning subpoenaing of witnesses.

"I presume that the attorney general will subpoena his own witnesses," Lutz said. He added that a number of former inmates had been at his office asking whether they might be called as witnesses. Lutz said he told them he supposed they would be, but had no definite information on the matter.

Meanwhile, the Frankin county grand jury was expected to recess at the close of today's hearings. Having already returned two indictments for perjury against witnesses who appeared before it, the jury is not expected to report any further indictments until after the Mansfield, Marysville and London investigations have been completed. It is expected, however, to make a partial report, probably touching on policies of the state parole board, management and physical condition of Ohio penitentiary. This jury paid a visit to Mansfield reformatory before Christmas. It was explained at the time that the visit was an unofficial one, for the purpose of inspecting the institution.

Recall Pen Warden.

Warden J. C. Woodard of Ohio penitentiary was to be recalled as a witness in Columbus today, dispatches said.

Yesterday, the jurors heard Tony Gaylan, former Mansfield reformatory inmate, now a prisoner at West Virginia state penitentiary. He told of his release from Mansfield, dispatches said.

Reformatory records show that Gaylan was received here from Summit county in 1934, when he was 23, on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, to serve from one to three years.

In October of the following year, the parole board heard his case at a special hearing, and recommended that his sentence be continued to the maximum.

The following month, November, the reformatory received a special notice from the board, rescinding its former action, records show, and giving Gaylan a conditional release to West Virginia authorities, after Dec. 1. The orders specified that if West Virginia did not want Gaylan, he was to be kept until his sentence was completed. Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said today.

However, West Virginia authorities came for him on Dec. 2, and he was turned over to them. Records do not show on what charge he was taken to West Virginia.

Started In Fall.

The state-wide parole investigation was started last fall after a series of articles appearing in Scripps-Howard newspapers charged there were irregularities in the Ohio parole system and that releases from penal institutions could be bought.

Gov. Martin L. Davey instructed Duffy to investigate, and Duffy called a special grand jury in Columbus, announcing shortly afterward that grand juries would be called here and in other counties where penal institutions are located.

Duffy requested $20,000 to conduct the inquiry, but the money has not yet been made available. He said today, according to Columbus dispatches, that only $340 remains in his investigation fund and that unless he gets additional money, he will be forced to discharge several special investigators.

A bill providing funds for the investigation has already passed the senate and is due to come up in the house today.

airline officials and the department of commerce we will be unable to make any statement as to the definite causes surrounding the same."

F. W. Whittemore, vice president in charge of operations, said company representatives were en route to the crash scene to investigate.

Sheriff Westlake, who led the searching party over tortuous roads and trails to the wreckage, said he "counted nine bodies" in his hasty examination.

Airport officials at Butte, the plane's last stop before the crash, said eight passengers and two crew members were aboard.

The sheriff reported the bodies were badly burned, three had been thrown, or fallen, from the fuselage, and the others—he could not tell if there were six or seven—were tossed into the front of the shattered airliner.

The passengers were the first ever killed in a transport plane crash in Montana, and the first to meet death on a Northwest Airlines flight. The National Safety council awarded the line a certificate last year for its 11-year record of flying 47,000,000 passenger miles with no passenger fatalities.

The plane, bound for Chicago from Seattle via Minneapolis, had been grounded for a time at Butte because of bad weather.

A postoffice official at Helena, Mont., said the plane carried mail.

Coroner Howard Nelson of Gallatin county started for the crash scene last night but was turned back by the blizzard.

Sheriff Westlake said snow drifting over the wreckage would delay an investigation.

N. J. Lyle accepted a ransom note from Hauptmann in 1934 in payment for gasoline at a Bronx, N. Y., service station. Following a company rule, Lyle wrote Hauptmann's license number on the $10 bill.

Another attendant, John J. Lyons who took the bill to the bank, was awarded $1,000, William R. Strong, bank teller who identified the note, and William F. Cody, teller who spotted a $5 ransom note passed at a New York theater, were given $2,000 each.

Amandus Hochmuth, 89, who testified at the trial that he saw Hauptmann with a ladder at the entrance of the Lindbergh home received $1,000.

William J. Allen, colored laborer who discovered the body of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, jr., in a wooded section near Hopewell, was granted $5,000. Many others share in the balance.

"I must reiterate my belief that more than one person was involved in this crime, that the case has not been completely solved," Hoffman declared.

Gunman Killed, 2 Pals Injured In Battle With Police.

ST. PAUL—(AP)—A gunman was killed and two companions and a St. Paul detective wounded today in a battle at a shooting gallery where officers trailed the trio after a double holdup.

The dead gunman was identified as Frank L. Van Dorn, 26, St. Paul.

Earl LaSchoun, 26, St. Paul, was in critical condition at Ancker hospital.

Dick Fortuna, 22, St. Paul, suffered a scalp wound and was held in the city jail. He is the brother of George Fortuna whose escape from the city jail last year precipitated a police shakeup.

Detective Ralph Merrill was in Ancker hospital slightly wounded.

Three detectives investigating holdups of a cafe and a filling station announced they were officers and the trio opened fire.

minister and retired fleet commander, was a leader in advocating that a formal declaration of war be made.

He insisted, the press reported, upon withdrawal of recognition of the Chinese government.

Today's grave conference began at 2 p. m. in the east hall of the Imperial palace, and it was understood the conferees grouped around a U-shaped table with the emperor at the head.

Army leaders were on his left, naval officials at the right, and members of the cabinet grouped nearby. Kiichiro Hiranuma, president of the privy council, also attended.

The chief secretary of the cabinet, the director of the military affairs bureau, and the director of the naval affairs waited in a nearby room of the palace.

Would Invoke Embargo.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — If Japan formally declares war on China, state department officials said today, it would be difficult for President Roosevelt to refrain from invoking embargo provisions of the American neutrality act.

The act bans shipments of war supplies to both belligerents whenever the president decides a state of war exists. Some observers contended its invocation would aid Japan, which has greater facilities than China for making munitions.

Officials studying the far eastern situation said they were encouraged by house refusal to consider the Ludlow war referendum proposal, which President Roosevelt had declared "would cripple any president in his conduct of our foreign relations."

BARBARA GOES TO COURT AGAIN

Actress Stanwyck To Testify About Fay's False Teeth In Custody Fight.

husband is Miss Stanwyck's agent.

Barbara handed the judge a sheaf of 10 affidavits, which said these things about Fay, actor, master-of-ceremonies and possessor of superb uppers and lowers:

1. That he was so proud of these dental creations he went to a football game on Thanksgiving, 1936, where he rose, bowed, and smiled "to show perfect strangers his new teeth."

2. That the late Ted Healy, irritated beyond endurance with this cuspitorian display, knocked them out, uppers and lowers both.

3. That while driving his automobile, he would take his hands off the wheel to light his cigarets, the meantime praying "God help us, amen," while the passengers shivered in fright.

4. That he drank excessively and once tossed Dion playfully into the swimming pool of his home. (Nurse Nellie Banner said she pulled Dion out.)

5. That one time he stumbled into Dion's crib and fell asleep, scaring the daylights out of his son with his snoring.

6. That he tried to kidnap his son.

7. That he smacked Miss Stanwyck on the chin and knocked her down while Dion watched.

Suggests Sanity Test.

That wasn't all Miss Stanwyck charged, but it gives the general idea. Her lawyer, Charles W. Cradick suggested that maybe it would be a good notion to have an alienist give Fay the double-o. Judge Knight didn't say yes and he didn't say no; he asked Miss Stanwyck to testify.

Fay's lawyers insisted upon getting personal. They told Judge Knight that they intended to delve into Miss Stanwyck's own fitness to keep the child, after obtaining from her the admission that she owned 50 racing ponies and spent Christmas at the track watching them do their stuff.

Miss Stanwyck seemed unworried about the suspension which R-K-O studio handed her when she refused to take the leading role in a new movie entitled "Distant Fields." She said the part wasn't suited to her. The studio said, "Okay, Barbara, no more pay-checks until you change your mind."

Filibuster Pressing 'Showdown' on Anti-Lynch Bill

BITTER FIGHT CONTINUES IN UPPER HOUSE

Barkley Weighs Decision To Call Night Sessions To Hurry Vote On Measure.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Opponents and supporters of the anti-lynching bill played a waiting game today while one of the bitterest filibusters in many years pressed the senate slowly toward a showdown on the controversial measure.

Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, D., Ky., who previously had threatened night sessions this mid-week in order to hurry a vote on the bill, appeared to be uncertain just when such action would be taken.

"We intend to let the debate develop," he said. "Our action will depend on what happens"

"Continue For Week."

Sen. Tom Connally, D., Tex., chief strategist of the filibuster, said it was unimportant whether the senate was forced to night sessions.

"This debate will last at least two weeks," Connally said. "After that it will depend on developments. If the leadership tries to hold night sessions they are going to have to keep a quorum there all the time. I'll see to that—and they're going to find it plenty hard to keep a quorum there"

As the filibuster entered its fifth day it was intensified by threats of turmoil in Democratic party ranks. Southern senators who comprise the small group which is blocking a vote on the bill hammered at the dangers of weakening party unity.

"It is horrible,' inexcusable and dastardly for us of the south who have kept the Democratic party alive to be handed such a reward for our faithfulness," Sen. Allison D. Smith, D., S. C, said.

Harrison Issues Warning.

Sen. Pat Harison, D., Miss., perhaps the most influential member of the opposition bloc, warned the Democratic leadership that the political repercussions of the passage of the bill would be "grave."

Barkley, meanwhile, was in no rush to end the debate because only the federal government reorganization bill is ready for debate Until business piles up behind the filibuster dam it will be difficult to forecast the outcome of the conflict.

Connally refused to predict defeat of the measure, but admitted that the sponsors of the bill, Sens. Robert F. Wagner, D., N Y., and Frederick Van Nuys, D., Ind., had enough votes to pass it.

Insurance Firms Join In Agency's 40th Anniversary

Sixty insurance company executives and field representatives, from 25 companies, were gathered in Mansfield today to participate in the observance of the 40th anniversary of the Edwin G. Slough Insurance agency.

Highlight of the event, which will continue through tomorrow, will be a banquet at the Mansfield-Leland hotel tonight. Tomorrow will be devoted to business conferences.

Herbert G. Slough is present head of the agency, which he took over on the death of his father, Edwin G. Slough, in 1932.

His father founded the agency in 1898, and in addition to operating it, also served as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce for a number of years His wife, the late Mrs. Maude E. Slough, was also connected with the company for 18 years prior to her death in 1928.

Herbert Slough became associated with the company on his graduation from Ohio State university in 1927. Under his direction, the agency has expanded in the last six years, and now represents the 25 companies whose representatives are here today to participate in the anniversary celebration

Rumors spread fast anytime but when the rumor concerns jobs at $10 a day, they fairly fly. Richland county commissioners decided today. A report that the Muskingum conservancy district had offered $10 a day for 100 days to men who would help remove bodies from a cemetery at Newville swamped the commissioners and the re-employment office yesterday with applications for work. Dozens swarmed the two offices asking for the jobs that didn't exist. "We don't know how the word got started, but there's not a bit of truth in it," P. S. Carroll, clerk of the board of commissioners, told the applicants.

Surviving are her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Glen B. Stoner of Indianaolis; three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Keck of Ashland, Mrs. Charlotte Hall of Mansfield and Mrs. P. J. Olds of Detroit; a brother, Jacob Wentz of Mansfield, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the St. Peter's Catholic church with Rev. R C. Goebel officiating at 9:30 a. m. Thursday. Burial will be in the Mansfield Catholic cemetery. The body was removed to the Wapner funeral home where it will remain until the time of services.

O. S. U. ECONOMIST TO SPEAK HERE

Rural Economics Authority To Conduct "School" Tomorrow

Guy Miller, rural economics specialist from Ohio State university, will conduct a farm accounting school for Richland county farmers and vocational students Wednesday at the county agent's office in the courthouse, George B. Ganyard, county agent, said today.

A summary school for keepers of farm accounts will be held at 9:30 a. m. to be followed by a class for beginners at 1:30 p. m. An evening summary class will open at 8 p. m.

The purpose of the school, Ganyard said, is to aid farmers who keep records of their annual expenditures and income, and to encourage others to keep accounts during the year. Last year 29 county farmers and a number of pupils in high school vocational classes kept records.

LEGISLATURE BACK IN CAPITAL TO COMPLETE RELIEF PROGRAM

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Both houses of the legislature return to the capital today to wind up enactment of a 1938 poor relief program, one of the two major purposes for which the special session was called six weeks ago

Needing only to iron out minor differences between the two chambers on the compromise plan for aiding Ohio's needy, the legislature was expected to reach prompt agreement on this problem.

Supplemental appropriations for state departments, second reason for the special meeting, apparently faced an indefinite delay. Passed by the house, the administrations budget bill rested in the senate finance committee with no indication that it would be considered soon.

Sen. Emerson Campbell (D-Belmont), finance committee chairman, returned to the statehouse after two weeks' illness but said his group planned no action immediately. The finance body is controlled by "hatchet men," committed to shelving additional appropriations until the senate's inquiry into reports of graft is completed

The administration proposal to make drastic amendments in laws governing sale of securities was slated for prompt action in both houses. Drafted by the securities division, the amendments would eliminate "loopholes" through which some dealers evaded regulation of their operations

Senate and house leaders indicated they would seek to have the relief bill thrown into a joint conference committee to write clarifying amendments into several of the revenue raising measures rincipal objection in the house was expected on the senate's reducing from one to .65 of one per cent of utility excise tax and also on the upper chamber's cutting the beer tax from one-half to one-quarter cent for each six ounces.

NEW RAW MILK PROTEST FILED

Producer Opposes Section of Ordinance to Be Invoked by Health Board April 1.

The Mansfield board of health last night listened to a new protest —this time to the present city ordinance that is to be invoked April 1.

Dr. Charles G. Brown, Mansfield physician, appearing before the board as a raw milk producer, objected to a part of the ordinance that calls for the placing of the raw milk in the final container on the farm where it is produced, contending it would increase his production costs 82½ per cent.

Provisions in the ordinance state that all milk sold without being pasteurized shall be placed in the final container on the farm where it is produced and shall bear the producer's name and label.

The board hesitated at amending the ordinance but agreed to take the matter under consideration and report at the next regular meeting.

Meeting in its first regular session of 1938, with Mayor Claude M. Hunter as its new ex-officio chairman, the board re-organized and elected Atty J H Gongwer vice chairman, Dr Roy C. Rehder, public health commissioner, and non-voting member of the board, was re-elected secretary.

CHARLES WARD NOT ARRESTED

South Main Resident Not Involved In Shoplifting Case.

Through an error, The News-Journal yesterday incorrectly reported that Charles A. Ward, 67½ South Main street, had been arrested and sentenced to jail on a charge of shoplifting. Mr Ward was in no way involved in the case and was not arrested

A Charles A Ward who was arrested and sentenced to 30 days in jail for shoplifting is not a resident of Mansfield, but comes from Massachusetts. He was arrested in the W. T. Grant store, and charges against him were preferred by G W. O'Connor, manager of the store Mr O'Connor said today that the Charles A Ward residing on South Main street was not the person involved.

The News-Journal regrets its error, and takes this means of correcting it in fairness to Mr. Ward.

SEEK TO QUIZ DEM CHAIRMAN ABOUT CHECKS

$4,000 In Cash and Records Found In Wrecked Car Form Basis For Inquiry.

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) —Francis W. Poulson, state Democratic chairman, was advised by his attorney, Charles Druggan, to refuse to answer questions concerning his personal affairs before the senate graft investigating committee today.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A senatorial committee hunting evidence of governmental graft called Francis W. Poulson, state Democratic chairman, to testify today —the second time he has been invited before the inquiry.

"We will inquire into the much discussed brief case and money found in Poulson's automobile after an accident at Northfield, O., Sept. 7, 1935," said Counsel James Metzenbaum in announcing the committee's decision to summon the Democratic chief.

Metzenbaum said Poulson was called—although his process servers were unable to find him and relied on Poulson's attorney to deliver the summons—for "an opportunity to 'explain" before calling a former Summit county sheriff and his five deputies who investigated the crash.

Quiz Ex-Sheriff.

The committee spent most of yesterday preparing the Poulson case Metzenbaum questioned informally Ex-Sheriff James T Flower and five former deputies, particularly Asa Anderson who, the committee was informed, had photostats of Poulson's records, including several checks and notes.

Anderson told newsmen he had no such copies but Flower said his aids found about $4,000 cash in Poulson's car The money and papers were returned to the Democratic leader the next day, Flower said.

When Poulson appeared briefly before the committee on Jan 3, he indicated an intention to attack its legal right to question him about personal affairs The point was not pressed.

To bolster the committee's contention that the house should pass and the governor should sign a bill appropriating $40,000 to it for expenses, Metzenbaum introduced last night testimony showing Gov Martin L. Davey's six-professor board had spent $12,258 since Oct. 22, 1937, investigating the highway department.

Metzenbaum commented that "in fairness" the senate committee should receive funds to carry out its program.

The Great Game of Politics

—By FRANK R. KENT

BEFORE THE so-called federal anti-lynching bill, now before the senate, passes—if it does pass—it ought to be made clear that despite the high purpose of its sponsor, Senator Wagner, and the sincerity of the various humanitarian organizations which have indorsed it, the real backing of the bill is political and the politics behind it is of a particularly sordid and unsavory kind.

THE THING—and the only thing—that makes its passage possible is the administration desire to strengthen its hold on the two million colored voters in northern states, which, through relief money, patronage and careful cultivation for four years, were swung away from the Republican party and to Mr. Roosevelt in 1936 There isn't a practical politician anywhere who does not know this to be true. In private conversation the leading administration strategists admit it with complete candor. They do not even bother to pretend.

AS A MATTER of fact, they take a considerable pride in the way the New Deal campaign to corral the colored vote in eleven debatable states was planned, inaugurated and conducted. It is claimed—and not without foundation—that this was the most sensational, significant and successful piece of political strategy that has taken place in this country in seventy years. Literally, they lifted the basic asset of one part clear out from under it, shifted it with almost complete solidit to the other. It is admitted that this political miracle could not have been performed without the relief funds, but the contention is that these had to be supplemented with the most adroit distribution of federal jobs and an intensive and sustained nursing campaign, the comprehensive nature of which few realized because, for obvious reasons, it was concealed from the public view.

HAVING succeeded in capturing what undoubtedly is the greatest voting group in the country, heretofore solidly hostile, the hard-boiled politicians of the administration are determined to keep it. They agree that neither the president's labor alliances nor his agricultural subsidies would compensate for the loss of the colored vote. Hence, when the anti-lynching bill made its biennial appearance, the administration swung in behind it—first because of the desire further to cement the New Deal grip on northern colored voters, and second because failure to support it would create colored resentment and provide a Republican opportunity for recapture.

SO, the strange spectacle is presented of a Democratic administration trying to jam through a Democratic congress a measure which strikes at the very root of the Democratic doctrine of local self-government, and is aimed at the section in which the Democratic party is strongest and where the Democratic president has had his most loyal support The pretense that the bill will stop or diminish the inhuman practice of lynching, to which all decent men are opposed, is too thin to stand analysis. In one of the ablest speeches he has ever made, Senator Borah last week showed the hollowness of the whole proposal, indicated as an insult to the south. And to his charges that it opened the door for complete federal domination of the state there has been no effective answer. Nor will there be.

NOR IS there the slightest suggestion of recent lynchings or of any outbreak of lawlessness, or threatened outbreak, or emergency of any kind that would justify the administration in creating a situation by which this vicious and unnecessary bill can clog indefinitely the legislative wheels, which seems the present prospect. The flaming oratorical attack of the president and his aides of the Jackson-Ickes type upon 'business abuses," their excited insistence upon freeing the people from what they call "industrial enslavement" and their demand for speedy labor and agricultural legislation—all that would impress the ordinary man with the belief that nationally there were many things of more immediate importance than the anti-lynching bill. Yet, under White House Pressure, supplemented by a militant colored lobby located at Washington and operating through and in close contact with administration leaders, everything is held up for action on it—and every suggestion for postponement is rejected. It is an exhibition of hypocrisy in politics rendered the more unpleasant because conducted beneath the sheltering folds of a humanitarian cloak.

HOLLYWOOD—The kid with the million-dollar smile isn't asking much of the movies. Just a chance to save a million dollars, that's all Wayne Morris wants.

He has started. The other day he checked over his assets. Cash in bank, cash in pocket, payments already made on a 20-year annuity—total $3,000

When his salary increases (with future option-liftings) he expects to save more and faster At present he puts aside about two-thirds of his earnings, says it doesn't cost him much to live

He has worked more or less regularly at one thing or another since he was 18. He is 23 now

"I'm not extravagant. Never could afford to be before and I don't expect to change now See this suit? It's tailor-made and it cost me $60. That's more than I usually pay but it will wear a long time. . . .

"A million is a nice, easy number to remember. That's why I'm aiming at that figure. . . . Of course if I got married, I don't know Marriage might put a crimp in my financial plans. Maybe I'd have to reduce my objective to half a million That's still a nice round sum . . ."

It was about three weeks ago—back in 1937—that Wayne Morris said he didn't "expect to get married—not this year at least" But Priscilla Lane (of the sisters) is wearing a diamond from Wayne as 1938 stretches ahead

Sam Wood has probably been to movie college more than any other director Wood, a director since 1919, was the one who introduced Red Grange to the screen in "One Minute to Play"

If he could have his way, more actors would be recruited from Annapolis and West Point. Says those boys know how to follow and obey instructions better than the fellows from private and state universities But he also thinks all college boys are fun to direct—especially the football players.

"They're taught co-operation on the field, and they carry that same spirit to the screen. Johnny Mack Brown (former Alabama football star) was one of the easiest actors I ever had to direct."

Little Flower Study Club Has Program On 'Life of Leo XIII'

MISS HELEN CARRIGAN, Columbia avenue, was hostess last night to members of the Little Flower Study club when Miss Edna Horning presented a paper on the "Life of Pope Leo XIII," compiled from the book "Leo the XIII and Our Times" by Rene Felop Miller.

Miss Horning's paper gave an account of the pope's life and some of his philosophy and doctrines She quoted the Holy Father as saying, "Each man should be a pliable tool in the hands of God."

The pope was a friend of the working man and was considered radical by many of his contemporaries. He wrote his encyclical at the age of 81 and in it he discussed the labor problems of the late 19th century and explained man's relations to each other as he understood them

He was a holder to many theories and ideals of social significance and believed staunchly in the right of private property and the necessity of the state to protect and hold man and his natural rights.

Delta Theta Tau Lays Plans For Province Convention Here

ONE OF THE more interesting sorority events of the season will be the province convention of Delta Theta Tau, which will be held in Mansfield Jan. 22 and 23, the first sorority convention ever to be held in this city.

Plans for the two-day event were discussed last night when members of Delta Theta chapter met at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, with Miss Doris Mann, president, presiding

The organization is the oldest non-collegiate sorority in the United States. All of its chapters, except one in Washington, D. C., are west of Pennsylvania, extending to the Pacific coast. The province of which Mansfield is a part, is made up of Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and Michigan About 150 young women are expected to attend the Mansfield convention, according to Miss Esther Dunham, who is general chairman of the meeting.

All sessions will be held at the Leland hotel Registrations will open at 10 a. m. Saturday, Jan. 22, in the lobby The first business session will begin at 1:30 in the Chinese room

Saturday night there will be a "vanity" dinner in the ballroom, with a dance afterwards, and with Mansfield men serving as escorts for the visiting sorority members.

A "progress" breakfast at 11 a. m Sunday will be the closing session.

Miss Dunham has named the following committee chairmen: Miss Mildred Adams, registration; Miss Maxine Jones and Miss Virginia Leight, dinner; Miss Mary Cox, dance, and Miss Martha Wolfe, breakfast.

A number of national officers are expected to attend the convention, among them Miss Imogene Reddell, Indianapolis, national president; Miss Dorothy Mallory, Indianapolis, philanthropic secretary; Miss Elisbeth Cornwell, Springfield, who is eastern inspector; Ione Wilkin, Dayton, province officer; Miss Maurine Williams, Greenville, O., editor of the national sorority magazine, and Miss Martha Penroy, Marion, who is a member of the board of trustees and a past national president.

Another meeting of the Mansfield chapter will be held on Jan. 17, at the hotel to complete plans for the convention.

ART HILBORN CRACKS PERFECT GAME DAY AFTER ROLLING 299

Feller's Too Tough, 'Gee' Walker Claims

LAKELAND, Fla. — (AP) — Gerald Walker, now a Chicago outfielder to the chagrin of Detroit fans, said today he did not care to be in the Major leagues indefinitely if Bob Feller was going to be around.

The 1938 pennant race, Walker said, should find the Yankees' supremacy challenged by Detroit, Chicago and the Cleveland Indians. "Cleveland's got this Feller and I'm telling you that he's a man—not a boy," said the popular player who batted for a right neat .335 average last year.

"I've seen Grove, Gomez, Rowe and the other fast boys, but none of them could be any faster than Feller," Walker said, "Why, that kid might have won 35 games last year if he hadn't had a sore arm early in the season."

SONJA HENIE, WHO GRACES ARENA ICE NEXT WEEK, RANKS AS ONE OF HOLLYWOOD'S DRAWING POWERS

CLEVELAND — The twinkling skates that have brought fame and fortune to Sonja Henie, world's champion figure skater, will be seen in action when the gifted Norwegian skater and film star, makes her first Ohio personal appearance at the Cleveland Arena for five nights, starting Sunday, Jan. 16 with her elaborate Hollywood cast.

When she was four years old, Miss Henie began to study dancing, and at the age of 14 Sonja's dancing on ice had carried her to the world's figure skating championship. She retained this title every year since until signing her Hollywood movie contract. . . . Ten successive world championships with three Olympic titles gathered along the way. This record of continuous championship is unapproached in sports history.

The world has produced only one Sonja Henie just as the world produced one Tyrus Raymond Cobb, one Robert Tyre Jones and one William Tatem Tilden, except that Sonja Henie has a number of assets that the other singular individuals of the sports lack.

TICKETS ON SALE HERE

Reservations for the Sonja Henie ice shows to be staged in the Cleveland Arena next week were placed on sale at the Tawse pharmacy, Mansfield-Leland hotel building, today.

She is the greatest woman figure skater of all times but she is also the greatest sport missionary of all time and one of the greatest box office attractions ever to enter the motion picture industry. When you consider that this cherubian Norwegian girl, the daughter of a fur dealer in Oslo, conquered all the figure skating kingdoms, resigned as an amateur and in less than one year became the No. 8 drawing card in motion pictures excelling a flock of the best known people in the cinema's "who's who" then the only conclusion that you can draw is that a fur dealer's nimbled toed daughter is a phenom of sports.

Besides being mistress of school figures, which are 75 per cent of skating championship rating, she is also the world's best in free skating. That is where showmanship counts. And she has all the requisites—face, figure, poise, allure and program. Her "Dying Swan" number remains the finest thing ever done on ice. It involves nearly every bit of difficult technique known to figure skating mastered by the brilliant Sonja.

Now at the age of 25 she has conquered two of the arts—figure skating and the cinema.

She is the only athlete male or female who went to the top in pictures, the only one who had enough acting ability to become a success.

In her Cleveland appearance, Miss Henie will be supported by over 100 skating stars who composed her cast for two film smashes "Thin Ice" and "One in a Million."

Sports Five Wins First Round Title

Yuncker Club Trims Canzols, 51 to 13, to Clinch Crown Before Disappointing Crowd.

By CHARLES MARTIN

THE YUNCKER SPORTS high-scoring cage machine won the first round championship of the City Class A basketball league last night by smothering an outclassed Ira D. Ling Canzol outfit, 51 to 13, in the weekly program at Senior high. A disappointing crowd watched the Sports mark up their fourth straight victory.

Gene Brandon, a former Mansfield high star, established a new season individual scoring record in the second game by rattling the backboard for 16 points to lead the Elks club to a thrilling 37 to 29 triumph over the Mack Pure Oils. The win gave the Elks second place in the opening round race.

The City league will play three rounds this season, President Chet Swank said today, with the winners battling it out in a round robin tournament for the crown.

With Brandon leading the fast-breaking attack, the Elks found the going tough during the opening half, but were able to break loose after the rest period to win with ease. Brandon dropped in 11 of the 22 points the Elks slipped through the hoop in the second half.

Breaks Hoff's Record.

The stellar guard turned in some brilliant floor work as he topped the record of 14 points held by a teammate, Russ Hoff. On three occasions, he intercepted Pure Oil passes in mid-court, broke away and counted on sucker shots. He missed five charity tosses which would have given him a 21-point total.

Taking a 2-point lead on the opening play, the Elks, unable to drop in baskets with any regularity, saw their lead dwindle and soon disappear as the Pure Oils took a 6-2 advantage midway in the half. Noel Morgan sank one from the middle of the court to give his team a 7-6 lead and the Elks were ahead to stay. At halftime, the Elks led, 15 to 11.

The Oilmen fought desperately to remain in the running, but when Brandon started clicking it was just too bad. Brandon teamed with Morgan and Freddie Lewis to change the score from an 18-17 count to a 29-17 margin before the bewildered Oils could tally a point. Harold Bolantz topped the Pure Oils with 10 points.

Scoring almost at will the Yuncker team never had a bit of trouble drubbing the Canzols. The winners have averaged 42 points per game and have allowed its opponents 21. The Canzols counted only five times from the field.

With its rebound work an important factor Jimmy Bieres' outfit had little difficulty in chalking up a commanding lead in the opening minutes.

Paced by Al Stickler and Tom Farrell the club hit the hoop with telling effect to chalk up a 25 to 7 lead at the half.

Bieres used every available man and everyone registered at least a point. Bob Charles, who saw only a few minutes service, was the only man who failed to score from the field.

Increase Advantage.

After the rest period, the Yuncker machine increased its advantage to a 35 to 9 margin before Johnny Schaster sank one in front of the basket.

Stickler paced the team with 11 points with Farrell trailing in with 10. Clarence Herrick and Schaster led the losers with five apiece.

Tie Involves Five Quintets

Church Standing Due for Shifting Wednesday.

With five of the 10 teams in the Y. M. C. A. Class A Church cage league involved in a tie for second place, a few changes can be expected in the standings Wednesday night at the Y.

Four of the five teams figuring in the deadlock meet Wednesday. Temple Emanuel meets Mayflower and Central M. E. tackles Episcopal. First Lutheran, the other team tied at four victories and two losses, tackles St. Pauls.

First M. E., which leads the parade with six straight triumphs, meets St. Johns in the first game at 7 p. m. Park Avenue Baptist and United Presbyterian vie in the last game.

First Lutheran seeks its seventh straight game tonight in the Class B Church league at the Y. M. C. A. The Lutherans meet South Main at 8 p. m.

In the other games, Baptist meets First Presbyterian, Central M. E. meets First Christian, First M. E. meets B'Nai Jacob and St. Johns meets Mayflower.

Third to Bowl 300 Game In Six Weeks

Optimist Star Adds Scores of 204 and 222 for 726 Total In Club League.

FIRST it was Sonny Meder. Then it was Ralph Schad. Now it is Art Hilborn who is the object of the bowling spotlight.

Denied a 300 game Sunday by one pin, Hilborn, who refused to become discouraged by this piece of ill luck, came back last night while bowling with the Optimists against the Liederkranz club in the Club league to register a perfect score.

The 300 game was not only the third bowled in league competition in the city in less than two months, but it was the third ever shot in A. B. C. sanctioned matches on the Meder Recreation alleys by Mansfield keglers.

It was also the third perfect game for the spectacular Hilborn, whose other 300 scores were compiled in practice matches several years ago, and follows the one shot by Schad by less than a week. Meder rolled his 300 before Christmas.

Hilborn, who had to be content with a 299 in a Traveling league match in Fremont Sunday, while bowling with the Miller Oldsmobiles, was never more accurate with his sweeping curve than he was last night.

Misses Pocket Once.

The bespectacled mineralite star missed the right pocket only once as he gained a place for himself in the A. B. C. hall of fame and a reward of a gold medal.

The lone exception occurred early in the game before it was even suspected that he was headed for another perfect tilt. Apparently becoming accustomed to the pressure which unnerves the 300 bowler, Hilborn was not the least disturbed as he whirled his destructive iron ball into the polished wood.

It seemed that his mineralite became more effective as he neared the end of the game. It was few times that his ball refused to carry the entire load of wood to the pits.

After the perfect game, Hilborn shot a 204 and finished his string with a 222 for a 726 total which was the best Club league score of the night by many, many pins.

Added to the 729 rolled in his Fremont series Sunday, Hilborn's average for his last six league games is 243.

Hilborn led the Optimists to a 2728 total, the best on the Club league boards, but his team won only one game, the first in which the 300 was rolled.

Liederkranz Wins.

After winning the opener with a 982 total, the Optimists rolled scores of 853 and 893. The Liederkranz club, which failed to reach the 2700 figures, finished with games of 875 and 902 to win the edge in the series without the aid of a handicap.

Selby, who started out with a 242, led the Liederkranz club with a 618 total.

The only other 600 total was rolled by Cole of the Ohio Fuel Gas club, who pounded out a 605. He led the Gasmen to a 2700 total.

Tygers Hosts to Ashland On Home Hardwood Tonight

Seek Fifth Victory in Game With Erstwhile N.C.O. League Rival.

VICTORIOUS in their last two games, the basketballing Tygers of Mansfield high school seek their fifth triumph of the season on the home boards tonight when they tangle with Ashland, a former N. C. O. conference rival.

The game is the first of two on the Mansfield card this week. Coach Russ Murphy's men engage Shelby in the final game of a two-game series at Mansfield high Saturday.

How troublesome Ashland will be tonight is a matter of doubt, but it should provide the Tygers with an interesting evening.

Stage Major Upset.

The A's pulled the major upset of the new season last week when they stopped Galion, 23 to 17, and were particularly oustanding on the defense.

Galion tallied only one basket in the first three periods as it fell before Coach John Longley's men. Of course, the failure of the Orangemen to score more often than once from the field before the last period was not due entirely to Ashland, but it can't be denied that the A's defensive play was of high order.

Only one member of the Ashland team is a letterman. He is Ed Snooks, a guard. All of the other members were advanced from last winter's reserve squad, and they have shown much improvement.

Jack Dugger, who took over Freddy Lewis' forward post last week as the Tygers trimmed Cleveland Parma, 32 to 30, will remain in the lineup, Murphy stated today.

Dugger showed considerable more class at a forward than he did at the center job which he held down in the inaugural game last month.

Murphy believes Dugger, who led the Tygers in scoring with nine points, will develop into a top-notch cage performer. He has height, speed, a good eye and is a better than average ball handler. His lack of game experience is his chief handicap.

Paired With Scott.

He will be paired with Tom Scott at the forwards, with John Hallabrin and Jack Lyons at the guards and Elmer Dials at center.

The Ashland lineup will consist of Barr and Howells, forwards; Bear, center, and Puglisi and Snook, guards.

West 5th Five Beaten Again

Suffers Second Straight Game to Brinkerhoff.

Undefeated until last week, the West Fifth cagers droped their second straight decision at the Senior high school yesterday when they bowed to Brinkerhoff, 4 to 2, in a Grade School league game.

Hedges, strengthened by the addition of the Moorhead brothers, formerly of West Fifth, continued its winning ways by whipping Woodland, 13 to 8.

Newman stopped Cartenter, 14 to 6; Bowman halted Western, 11 to 3, and Prospect blanked Bushnell, 13 to 0.

Minor Changes In Prep Rules

Association Only Alters Kicking Code.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Any prep football fans concerned over the possibility of learning a lot of new rules next fall can cease worrying.

The National Federation of Interscholastic Athletic associations, which governs the high school game in 21 states, made only two changes in the regulations, after two days of discussion. The rules group authorized:

1. The penalty for a foul committed during a kick shall be loss of distance only, instead of loss of ball at point of the foul.

2. That the penalty for an illegal shift shall be five yards instead of 15.

Two recommendations offered to open up the forward passing portion of the sport were defeated by close margins.

Suggestions that the goal posts be moved up to the goal line and that a field goal be allowed when the ball passes between the uprights, but under the crass-bar, were tabled.

MODIFY STYMIE RULE

U. S. G. A. Rules Ball Can Be Lifted if Within Six Inches of Cup.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Although admittedly dodging the issue of either abolishing the pesky stymie or keeping it, the United States Golf association appears to have hit upon a popular idea in modifying the stymie rule.

At its annual meeting last week the U. S. G. A. eliminated stymies when the nearer ball lies within six inches of the cup. Except for this modification, the rule remains unchanged, permitting the lifting of the ball for a putt only when it lies within six inches of the one that is "away" from the hole.

BUCKEYES ELIMINATED

Defeat by Michigan Erases Ohio's Big 10 Title Hopes.

ANN ARBOR—(U.P.)—With the Big Ten basketball race only one week old, Ohio State today practically had been eliminated from title consideration.

The Bucks lost their second straight conference start here last night when they were beaten 38 to 28 by the University of Michigan. Ohio's first setback was at the hands of Northwestern.

NAMES NEW UMPIRES

Trautman Adds Johnson, Conlan to Association Staff.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)—George M. Trautman, president of the American association, today announced the selection of two new umpires for the 1938 season. They are Charles E. Johnson, who worked for the past two years in the American league; and John B. Jocko) Conlan, an umpire in the New York-Pennsylvania league last season.

FARM AUCTION

WHEN A FARMER SAW HIS SALE BILLS IN THE DITCH HE DECIDED THAT IT WAS REALLY NECESSARY TO USE WANT ADS

Mr. Farmer! Don't take a chance on having an unsuccessful aucotin sale. Remember, you can't sell to people who never heard of the sale and who therefore will not attend.

To get people to attend, you must inform them of your sale ahead of time.

Follow the example of farmers in this vicinity who have assured themselves successful sales by using the NEWS-JOURNAL WANT ADS. Let us help you with your sale copy and if you want to use cuts to make your ad stand out we charge only for the space used.

MAIL - PHONE - OR BRING YOUR AD TO THE WANT AD DEPT.

A WANT AD TODAY —— RESULTS TOMORROW!

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Paper Prophet. By Harold Gray

IT'S DIFFICULT TO KNOW IN WHAT GRADE TO PLACE HER - SHE'S NOT A TRANSFER - APPARENTLY SHE HAS HAD VERY LITTLE FORMAL SCHOOLING -
I SEE YOU ARE GIVING HER A SPECIAL TEST - A VERY SOUND IDEA -
1-11-38
IT SEEMED THE BEST WAY - I SUPPOSE I SHOULD HAVE CONSULTED YOU FIRST, MR. THEOREM - BUT YOU WERE BUSY -
YOU DID QUITE RIGHT, MISS LIGHT - BUT I WILL GRADE HER PAPERS WHEN SHE FINISHES -
FINISHED SO SOON? HM-M-M- YOU MUST BE A VERY BRIGHT YOUNG LADY INDEED -
NO - I'M 'FRAID I MISSED SOME OF TH' QUESTIONS A MILE - BUT WHEN I KNOW I DON'T KNOW, I FIGGER THERE'S NO USE WASTIN' TIME BLUFFING -
HM-M-- YOU WERE RIGHT - FORMAL SCHOOLING, NO - BUT A MIND - LOGICAL - KEEN - ALERT - HM-- I'LL PLACE HER IN YOUR CLASS, MISS LIGHT, AND PLEASE KEEP ME INFORMED ON HER PROGRESS - SHE'S WORTH SPECIAL ATTENTION -

OH, I SEE THE NEW CASHIER'S GOT YOU CURLING YOUR HAIR IN COMPETITION. I REALLY THINK ITS IMPROVED YOU--- IT CERTAINLY COULDN'T HAVE HURT YOUR APPEARANCE!
YOUR WORDS ONLY HURT ME FOR A LITTLE WHILE AND THEN I GET TO THINKIN' HOW YOU LOOK AND I COULD LAUGH RIGHT NOW BUT I'M TOO POLITE
AND BY THE WAY, WHILE YOU'RE DRUDGING AND THIS GORGEOUS MADE-UP CREATURE IS TAKING IN THE CASH, DID YOU EVER WONDER WHO SHE IS?
SHE'S DOIN' WHAT SHE KNOWS BEST AND I'M DOIN' WHAT I KNOW BEST-- WHERE SHE COMES FROM AND WHERE SHE GOES DON'T MAKE NO NEVER MIND
WITH ME--SHE'S JUST WORKIN' FOR ME
I DON'T CARE WHO LIZZIE IS - SHE'S GOT HER LIFE TO LIVE - IF SHE DON'T LIVE RIGHT SHE'LL SUFFER - AFTER THE LOVE-SUFFERING I HAD ON ACCOUNT OF BRUCE I GOT A KINDLY FEELIN' FOR EVERYBODY

DIXIE EXPLAINS TO MA THAT MR BLISH WANTS HER TO QUIETLY INVESTIGATE THE STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE OF DOLLS FROM THE HACKET DOLL FACTORY
WHAT DO YOU THINK, MA?
WELL — SEEMS TO ME IT'S A JOB FOR A REGULAR DETECTIVE
I HATE TO SAY NO, ESPECIALLY SINCE IT'S FOR MRS. HACKET
— ON THE OTHER HAND I MIGHT SAY YES IF YOU WEREN'T GOING ALONE!
???
DIXIE — WHEN DO WE START ???
???MICKEY! — OH WOULD YOU??

BRICK BRADFORD— In the Fortress of Fear. By William Ritt and Clarence Gray

BRICK BRADFORD AND HIS FRIENDS, PROFESSOR VAN ATTA SALISBURY AND HIS DAUGHTER, JUNE SALISBURY, ARE VACATIONING IN FLORIDA WHEN—YOU WISH TO SEE ME, PROFESSOR SALISBURY?
YES BRICK, ABOUT AN EXTREMELY IMPORTANT MATTER!
I'M SORRY TO BREAK YOUR VACATION, BRICK—BUT I'M GOING TO ASK YOU TO ENGAGE IN A VERY DANGEROUS MISSION!
COPYRIGHT 1938, KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.
YOU ARE TO FLY IMMEDIATELY TO NEW YORK AND CONTACT A DR. ARTHUR DRAIN—HE WILL GIVE YOU FURTHER INSTRUCTIONS—BRICK, THE HAPPINESS OF THE WORLD MAY DEPEND ON YOUR DOING THIS!

NICE GOIN', COUNT! DUKE VARLOTT DIDN'T EVEN SUSPECT TH' TRAP HE WAS WALKIN' INTO!
UND CONGRATULATIONS TO YOU, MICKEY! EET WAS A WONDERFUL COUP!
BUT--- WHERE ISS HIS MAJESTY?
SHHHHHH! HE'S HIDIN' DOWN UNDER TH' HAY!
BUT HE ISS TO BE MARRIED AT TEN O'CLOCK!
YEAH! BUT WE CAN'T LET HIM BE SEEN NOW— OR EVERYBODY'LL KNOW THERE ARE TWO OF US!
YOU LOAD DUKE VARLOTT AN' HIS MEN IN YOUR AUTOS -- AN' I'LL GET MICHAEL TO TH' PALACE LIKE NO KING EVER GOT TO HIS WEDDING BEFORE!

BRINGING UP FATHER— By George McManus

NOW LISTEN - IF YOU INTEND TO RETAIN YOUR JOB AS MY SECRETARY - YOU HAVE GOT TO GIVE UP STAYING UP SO LATE AT NIGHT -- IT'S AFFECTING YOUR MEMORY -
WELL - I SPOKE TO A DOCTOR LAST WEEK ABOUT MY MIND - AND HE TOLD ME THAT I HAD NOTHING TO WORRY ABOUT -
NOTHIN' IS RIGHT - NOW YOU MUST TRAIN YOURSELF NOT TO BE SO FORGETFUL --
HAVE NO FEAR OF THAT - ONLY YESTERDAY - I HAD TO REMEMBER SOMETHING - AND I DID - I HAVE FORGOTTEN WHAT IT WAS - BUT I'M ALMOST CERTAIN I DID IT - NOW I'D ADVISE YOU TO RETIRE EARLY AND GIT A GOOD NIGHT'S REST -
YES - I THINK YOU'RE RIGHT - I'LL BE ON MY WAY NOW - I SHOULD BE HOME IN TEN MINUTES -
WHAT'S TH' MATTER WITH YOU? YOU ARE HOME - I'M THE ONE WHO'S CALLING ON YOU -
OH - THEN IT'S YOU THAT'S KEEPING ME UP?

LIFT IN COPPER VALUE BOLSTERS METAL MARKET

Profit Selling Handicaps Halt General Advance; Leaders Retreat.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Profit selling handicaps halted the stock market advance today and many leaders retreated fractions to a point or so.

Dealings were slower than in the preceding session. Only moderate buying support was in evidence near the second hour.

Another lift in domestic and export copper prices tended to bolster metal issues, although most were unable to get out in front.

Aircrafts kept their losses to minor amounts as armament requirements were still viewed as an important factor for this group.

Bonds were quiet with changes narrow.

In the matter of merchandising shares, brokerage quarters noted reports from observers placing department store sales in the first six shopping days of this year at 4 per cent over the corresponding 1937 period.

Not so encouraging was the weekly statement of reporting reserve banks in 101 cities disclosing another sharp drop in commercial, industrial and agricultural loans. The set-back for the week ended Jan. 5, amounted to $84,000,000.

RULES ON SSA TAX EXEMPTION

Treasury Says Employers May Deduct Social Security Fees.

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Employers may deduct social security taxes in making out their federal income tax returns, the treasury said today, but employes may not do so.

A salaried person may deduct taxes he pays on his house but not on the 1 per cent of his salary he pays for the prospect of an old age pension, officials advised.

They explained the latter levy is technically an income tax and, under law, cannot be deducted in figuring the regular income tax. The tax on employers, however, is labeled an excise tax and is deductible the same as the federal tax on automobiles and refrigerators.

REMEMBER THAT NIGHT

By MARGARET GORMAN NICHOLS

(Copyright 1937)

CHAPTER XXVIII

Philip glanced at the phone and words for Lilyan came to him. He saw himself going to the phone, calling her, and saying, "I can't marry you tomorrow because I'm in love with Karen Mallare. I'm more completely, more passionately in love than I ever believed anyone could be. I can't go through with it, Lilyan! I'll do anything you and your father suggest but I can't marry you. I'm sorry but that's the way it is."

But he couldn't because he could not bear to hurt and humiliate her and because of his fondness for her father!

The clock chimed three times softly. Dropping his cigaret into the flames in the fireplace, he crossed the room, put on his hat and coat, and went out. On the street he hailed a taxi. Late for the rehearsal of his wedding! But he never wanted this kind of wedding.

Arriving at the church, he met Tony Cannon first

"A fine wedding rehearsal with everybody late!" Tony said, grinning, shaking his hand. "Lilyan isn't here, either. Nor is Kennedy, your best man. Where's everybody?"

"Lilyan isn't here?"

Tony misinterpreted the anxiety in his voice. "Not worried, are you? You don't have to be worried about her. But I'll change places wih you in case you change your mind."

Lilyan wasn't here Pray that she won't come. Poor Lilyan, sweet and faithful! She did not know what an empty, loveless marriage this would be. You've got to get yourself together, he told himself with firmness. You've got to get a hold on yourself. But everything seemed to be going to pieces. It was like a crazy dream. It was like the first rehearsal of a bad play in which no one knew his lines.

Tony laughed. "Say, you've got the jitters! Let's go out and have a cigaret.

But scarcely had his cigaret been lighted when two taxis stopped simultaneously before the church. Sid Kennedy, always in a hurry, always late, alighted from one, Lilyan from the other.

"Now we can get started! Let the wedding bells ring!"

Philip straightened his back and relaxed the tightness of his mouth. Lilyan, walking beside Sid, looked lovely in a brown suit.

"She must never know," Philip thought. "But never is a long, long time."

At twilight Karen stood on the hospital steps. She had spent the entire afternoon with Craig who seemed loath to let her go. His dark eyes seemed to twinkle when people said, "Why, doctor, I didn't know you had a daughter!" They had had tea in his office

He kissed her warm cheeks tenderly and watched her slim figure in a brown coat and green hat descend the steps and walk slowly down the shady street He thought, "I know why her eyes wandered to the clock so often I'd do anything in the world for her but I can't make Philip love her. I can't stop his marriage."

But suddenly he remembered the night in Baltimore when Philip hand't been able to sit through his own play . . .

Her life was like a puzzle with pieces that would not fit, Karen thought, as she walked away from the hospital. Nothing she had ever experienced was comparable to her feelings of desolation and emptiness. "If someone hit me now, I wouldn't feel it. I'm numb. Oh, I can't be cheated of the only love I shall ever have!" People on the street were enemies. The sky was ugly.

On Fifth avenue she passed the church in which Philip and Lilyan would be married tomorrow. But the church was in darkness. Obviously the rehearsal was over.

With her own key she let herself in the apartment.

Mrs. Reid came out of her room, smiling. "Your packages came, Miss Karen! I opened them and put the things in your room. My but that's a lovely suit! Tomorrow Mr. Philip gets married and on Monday Miss Brenda. You'll be next!"

"Is Miss Brenda home?"

"No. And she hasn't called. Shall I tell 'he cook . . ."

Karen pulled off the green hat. "I'm sure she'll be here."

Going to her room, she looked at the black suit with the large silver fox collar, the black suede slippers, small black hat, white gloves, white satin blouse, and black leather bag. Slowly her fingers stroked the soft fur.

Some crazy impulse made her change from the green wool frock into the suit. Something to do to keep from thinking that in a few hours glasses would be raised in a toast to the bride and groom!

Suddenly, looking at herself in the full length mirror, she was afraid for tonight! She couldn't go on' She couldn't act tonight' She had no fire and tenderness to put into Philip's play tonight!

Brenda came in.

How foolish she must think her, Karen thought, standing in the center of the room wearing her new suit!

"I just wanted to see how it looked. I've never had anything as nice as this" She took off the jeweled pin from the blouse and began to pull off the white gloves

Brenda's face was flushed, her eyes bright. She looked as if she had been running Her voice was breathless when she spoke.

"Don't take it off, dear. It fits perfectly, doesn't it? It looks lovely." her eyes softened. "Don't take it off until you hear what I'm going to say. And this is positively my last long story!

"I went to see Lilyan this afternoon and I found her crying over her wedding gown. At first she wouldn't tell me why she was crying. Just nerves, she said, from so much excitement But then I made her tell me' I thought perhaps she was jealous—jealous of you But I guessed wrong!"

"Why should Lilyan cry?" Karen asked. "Why should any one cry who is going to marry Philip tomorrow?"

Brenda took a deep breath"

"She was sitting in her pretty bedroom and her maid was packing the loveliest trousseau I've ever seen. And Lilyan was sobbing quietly. Her father was in the next room. She didn't want him to know. As usual I had walked in without knocking and I made her tell me why she was unhappy on the day before her wedding."

Coming closer to Karen, she sat on the wide bed with its pale blue satin spread. "I hurried so I'm nearly out of breath!" She smiled. "Karen, Lilyan was crying because she's in love with another man!"

Her eyes wide and luminous suddenly, Karen cried, "In love with another man!"

"Yes. A neighbor of hers when she and her father had the house in England They met when she was out walking one day and met secretly after that when ever she could leave Owen But she didn't tell Owen. She didn't tell anybody.

"Karen, you aren't the only one who has been through a difficult time. Lilyan had been miserable. Here in New York before she left, she was very happy about Philip. But away from him—distance clears the head like nothing else—she began to wonder and to feel unworthy of him. She began to be afraid that she wasn't the person to be the wife of a playwright. She's a simple, childlike person. Being the wife of a famous man began to frighten her. She knows nothing and cares nothing about the stage."

Karen caught a glimpse of herself in the mirror, seeing her fine, curving brows drawn together.

Her voice breathless now, she asked, "What is she going to do about tomorrow?"

Brenda smiled "I'm coming to that."

ASKS $150,000

Heart Balm Suit Names Film Actress' Mother.

HOLLYWOOD—(U.P.)—Mrs. Ann Beresford Whitehead, who is best known as the mother of the beautiful, blond movie star, Anita Louise, was charged today in a $150,000 damage suit with having stolen the love of Verne Whitehead, her band leader bridegroom whom she married last Christmas.

The suit was filed by the musician's former wife, who said her husband had been lured away by the coddling and glamorous promises heaped upon him by the movie star's mother

The plaintiff in the suit was Mrs Bernice Whitehead. She said that she and her husband were happy together until the actress' mother appeared and "was able lavishly to cater to all of the whims, hopes and ambitions of said Whitehead and to lure him by the glamor of offers of great worldly accomplishments."

O. W. U. SEEKING NEW PREXY TO SUCCEED SOPER

University Trustees Accept Resignation of President Who Served Since '28.

DELAWARE—(AP)—Dr. John E. Brown, president of Ohio Wesleyan's Board of Trustees, said today the board's executive committee would take up "promptly" consideration of a successor to Dr. Edmund D. Soper who resigned as president of the University amid rumors of dissatisfaction over administrative policies.

Dr. Brown, announcing acceptance late yesterday of the resignation, effective Aug 31, did not amplify his statement concerning a successor.

"The resignation of Dr. Soper does not come wholly as a surprise to Dr. Soper's intimates," he said "It was well known that he was persuaded almost against his judgment to accept an administrative post, and his life's preparation has tended always toward classroom and lecture work."

Born in Tokyo.

Dr. Soper, born of missionary parents in Tokyo, Japan, came to the Methodist-Episcopal school from Duke university, Durham, N C, to succeed John W. Hoffman in 1928 He had been professor to missions at Ohio Wesleyan from 1910 to 1914.

Rumors of Dr Soper's probable resignation followed two severe illnesses of the 61-year-old president in recent years. Rumors of dissatisfaction among some alumni over appointments and administrative decisions also were current Dr. Soper submitted his resignation without comment, however.

Dr Brown said of the resigned president·

"He has given his best in loyal service to Ohio Wesleyan but feels now, while in health and vigor, that there awaits him in his former field several years of useful service of the type he has longed to resume.

"The university authorities have agreed to his views and may establish relations later which will permit at least part of Dr Soper's time to be spent in lectures on the campus."

Quits As Prexy

Dr Edmund D. Soper, above, has resigned as president of Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware, effective Aug 31. His action was accepted by the board of trustees at a meeting in Delaware yesterday Dr. Soper plans to re-enter the teaching field which he left to take Ohio Wesleyan's presidency. He previously taught at Northwestern and Duke universities

Ohioan Says Lay-Off by State Subterfuge For Dismissal.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Louis M. Hammer, civil service employe in the state highway department in Clinton county, who was laid off Jan. 15, 1936 has filed a mandamus suit in the court of appeals here against Highway Director John J. Jaster, jr., demanding that his job be restored.

Hammer stated that others laid off the same time as he, have been put back to work. He contended that his lay-off was a subterfuge for a dismissal in order to avoid a hearing before the state civil service commission.

Judge J. D. Barnes, who heard the suit, gave highway director Jaster until Feb. 12 to answer the suit or to put Hammer back to work. Hammer listed his job as "laborer in charge"

8 LYNCHINGS

Decrease In Hangings Shown By Research Department.

TUSKEGEE, Ala. — (INS) — With eight lynchings during 1937, the number remained the same as last year, the annual report of the Tuskegee Institute Department of Records and Research said However, in comparison with figures of 1935 and 1934 there was a decided decrease. Twenty persons were lynched in 1935 and 15 in 1934

SUES PARTNER

Co-Proprietor of Billard Parlor Asks For Receiver.

Seeking dissolution of partnership, an accounting of proceeds of the Recreation Billard parlor at 23 North Park street, Mansfield, and the appointment of a receiver for the business, Glen Touby, one of the owners, today had filed an action in common pleas court against John F. Bauman, his partner.

Touby contends in his petition that the business is insolvent and that Bauman has used the firm's funds for his own benefit. The plaintiff also requests an order enjoining the Farmers Savings and Trust company from releasing the partnership funds to Bauman.

PREPARES FOR NEW SEMESTER

Night School Vocational Classes Start Second Term Feb. 8.

Registrations for the second semester of evening vocational classes at the Senior high school are being taken at the school, V. H. Oberlander, instructor, announced today.

The new semester will begin Tuesday, Feb 8, and will continue for a period of 12 weeks, with classes being held each Tuesday and Thursday between 7 and 9 p. m.

BIRTHDAY BALL FUNDS TO GO TO U.S. FOUNDATION

Permanent National Program Planned; City's Dance to Be Held at Leland.

A permanent national foundation to continue a relentless war against infantile paralysis is planned from this year's receipts of the president's birthday ball, leaders of the Mansfield celebration pointed out today.

Receipts from all birthday balls throughout the country this year will go into a national fund to be used in a four-purpose program:

1—scientific research; 2—first aid for cities in the event of a local infantile paralysis epidemic; 3—proper care in the treatment of cases to prevent tragic after effects of the malady; 4—funds for helping orthopedic hospitals and clinics.

"National leaders of this movement feel that more lastings benefits can be obtained in the fight against infantile paralysis by the establishing of a permanent national program," John F. Correll, chairman of the Richland county birthday ball committee said.

Continue Annually.

"The plan is to continue these benefit affairs annually and emphasis is being placed on the fact that they are absolutely non-partisan as well as the entire program," Correll added.

In the past money raised at the birthday balls was distributed on the basis of 70 per cent to local communities and 30 per cent to the national foundation.

In the future, funds and supplies will be rushed from the national foundation into communities where the disease is rampant.

The Richland county birthday ball will be held Saturday night, Jan. 29, at the Mansfield-Leland hotel ballroom. An orchestra will be announced later, Correll said.

Committee chairmen named by Correll to assist in arranging for the event are Mrs. Louise M. Reese, ticket sales; Postmaster Herman E. Homberger, patron's committee; Atty. Marshall C. Moore, committee on arrangements, and Arden Strang, publicity.

Tickets for the dance will go on sale Wednesday at $1.50 a couple or $1 for single admission.

NEANDERTHAL CAVE FOUND

MOSCOW —(U.P.)— Remains of one of the most ancient camps of man in Russia have been discovered in the Chagarak-Koba cave in the Crimea. The cave, it was believed, had been inhabited by the Neanderthal man who lived in the glacial epoch, about 30,000 years ago.

They Stirred Kidnap Fears

Two young Ypsilanti, Mich., lovers, whose elopement stirred abduction fears, have returned to their homes and received pa al blessing. They are Trudie Bennett, daughter of Harry Bennett, Ford Motor company personnel manager, and Russell Hughes, 21-year-old dance orchestra drummer. The two eloped to an Indiana town, were married and then went to Florida for a short honeymoon.

THEATER

HOLLYWOOD FLASHES: Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon (remember them?) are making personal appearances in South America. . . . Lily Pons' ambition is to do an entire opera for the screen. . . . Andy Devine is growing a beard for a role in "Gone With The Wind"—but not for Rhett Butler, of course. . . . The Dionne quints will speak English in their next picture, but not much of it, since their native language is French. They will be seen—ironically enough in—"Mother Knows Best." . . . The National Board of Reviews selected "Night Must Fall" (Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell) as the best picture of 1937. It didn't even get a tumble at the Mansfield box office, and failed to lure the cash customers in many cities . . . "Black Legion" also made that list of "ten best," although it wasn't mentioned on any of the other national polls.

"First Lady."

Society diplomacy and political intrigue as practiced in the highest circles in Washington is the theme of the George Kaufman and Katharine Dayton stage play which has been made into a picture play with Kay Francis and which plays the Madison Wednesday and Thursday. Although the authors insist that it is purely fictional, many readers of the play recall Alice Roosevelt Longworth who has long been considered the wittiest woman in the national capital and whose ambition for her husband, the late Nicholas Longworth, was well known. Preston Foster, Anita Louise and Walter Connolly head a supporting cast of well known names.

One of the Best.

Charles Boyer takes his place in the ranks of America's best male screen players as the result of his 1937 pictures. He began last year with "History Is Made At Night," one of the better pictures of the year, and topped that with his superb performance in "Conquest," and "Tovarich." In the latter, which is an adaptation of a stage play, he plays a gay young Russian grand duke, who with his duchess, is in exile in France, with 40 billion gold francs in the bank but not a penny to spend. He proved in "Conquest" that he is one of the great actors of the screen. In "History Is Made At Night" he stepped into first ranks as a screen lover; and in "Tovarich" he turns to romantic comedy. Claudette Colbert is co-starred with him in the latter film which is the current attraction at the Ohio theater.

A Gable Revival.

A revival of one of the earlier pictures made by Joan Crawford and Clark Gable heads the bill at the Majestic today and through Thursday. It is "Chained" in which Miss Crawford is seen as the mistress of one man who falls in love with another, but who believes she must stick to her first bargain. There is a dramatic finish in a mountain cabin. Hugh Herbert and Allen Jenkins, each exponents of a different kind of comedy, are teamed in "Octopus of Crime," the second feature at the Majestic. John Eldredge and Marcia Ralston are the romantic leads.

"Imitation of Life."

Another revival picture which is being offered picture fans this week is Claudette Colbert in "Imitation of Life," one of the most dramatic themes in which this popular actress has appeared. With her is Louise Beavers, the colored actress, who has the role of Mammy who invented a pancake flour which brought them both to fame and prosperity. A racial tragedy is one of the highlights of the story. Bob Steele in a Western "The Red Rope," with Lois January as his leading lady, is also on the bill.

GIVE COLLEGE BOOKS

OBERLIN—(U.P.)—Departmental heads of Oberlin college are selecting 10,000 francs' worth of French books, a gift of the French government. The money was presented by M. Jules Henry, charge d'affaires in Washington.

De Mille Daughter a Bride

Latest Hollywood romance to reach the marital stage is that of Cecelia Hoyt DeMille Calvin, daughter of Cecil B. DeMille, film producer, and Joseph W. Harper, of a Kansas City, Mo., publishing company. The couple, shown in Hollywood, planned to wed in Kansas City while enroute to new York to board a steamer for Europe and a honeymoon.

WIFE BEATING ONCE LAWFUL IN CALIFORNIA

But Chastisement Had to Be In 'Mild and Paternal' Manner, Case Reveals.

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—You could could beat your wife in old Los Angeles, provided you beat her tenderly.

In fact, it was a case of spare the rod and spoil the home—if divorce records of the year 1851 are any criterion.

But in dealing out "corporeal chastisement" to one's wife in the old days, it was proper to temper justice with mercy and to beat her in a "mild and paternal manner."

At least, that is the conclusion drawn after a perusal of official papers in the first contested divorce case on file in Los Angeles county—the case of Francisca Perez Silvas vs. Mariano Silvas, filed Jan. 6, 1851.

Generally Broadminded.

Of course, the wife might have a different idea than her husband as to what should constitute a "mild and paternal manner" of beating, but the courts were inclined to be broadminded about the interpretation of the phrase, judging by the case of "Silvas vs. Silvas."

It was a disagreement over this point, however, which apparently broke up the Silvas home. The wife charged her husband was brutal when he chastised her. He said he was not.

So in February, 1851, their differences were brought into the county court, and after a 10-day trial, in which such contemporary notables as Pio Pico, once governor of Alta, California, were witnesses, Mrs. Silvas' plea for a divorce was denied. Moreover, her husband's costs of $157.50, incurred in defending the suit, were assessed against the wife and an attachment was levied on her separate property to collect.

SPONSORS TALK

P.T.A. Council Brings O.S.U. Prof to City Jan. 31.

The Mansfield council of Parents and Teachers will sponsor an address in Mansfield, Monday, Jan. 31, by Dr. Peter H. Odegard, lecturer in government and political science at Ohio State university.

Dr. Odegard will appear at the First Presbyterian church and will speak on the subject, "Propaganda Public Opinion."

Dr. Odegard for some time served as a leader in the Des Moines, Ia., Forum, one of 10 demonstration centers of the forum plan of public discussion sponsored by the Federal Bureau of Education.

Arrangements for his appearance here were made by the Parent Education committee of the council. The committee includes John Correll, chairman, Mrs. I. W. Basinger, and W. L. Miller, superintendent of schools.

PLANE SCOUTS SARDINES

ALMEDA, Cal.—(UP)—Aviation has become a scout for sardine fishing. When the local sardine fleet sails out of the Farralone islands, a scouting plane precedes it, locates the schools of sardines and signals the fleet into action.

Grand Sore Throat and Cough Medicine

Don't waste time and take chances on old-fashioned or surface remedies that give only part relief. If you have a sore throat or cough due to cold, you need real medicine. Take Thoxine, the famous throat and cough medicine that so many families are now using. The very first swallow starts relief, soreness is soothed, usually in a few minutes you can swallow without pain. And those annoying coughs due to an irritated throat or cold often stop at once, like magic. It also acts internally to help stimulate throat secretions and loosen phlegm. Your doctor will approve the ingredients, all are listed on the carton. Wonderful for children, too. Buy Thoxine. 35c, 60c, $1.00. All Druggists

What we need is quiet, general co-operation for better business, but no boom.

Possibly in a moment of exasperation, the Toledo Blade remarks: Government is supposed to serve the people. Not rob them to support a political machine."

The Columbus Citizen, quoting Governor Davey in a recent speech: "I said 'IETAOINPUNPUNU' "—which seems entirely out of accord with Mr. Davey's customary care in choosing his words.

Suggests More Profit-Sharing.

AN interesting development, in the present business log-jam, is the resolution offered in the United States senate by Senator Vandenberg of Michigan. He asks congress to determine whether the government can save the "profits system" by making tax awards or rebates to business firms which share earnings with their employes.

There would be an inquiry, by a branch of the senate finance committee, into all profit-sharing systems now operating in American industry, for the information of the government, the public and all employers interested in establishing such a plan.

There are more of these profit-sharing arrangements today than many realize, and they seem on the whole to have improved relations between employers and employes. Often they result in added prosperity for both, because of better co-operation.

Whether the "profits system" is really in danger of destruction is an open question, but experience suggests that this is at least one way to strengthen it.

Would Remove Taxes From Homes.

PROPOSAL by Hugh L. White, governor of Mississippi, to remove all forms of taxation from all homes occupied by owners, provides an interesting slant on present-day thinking, although nothing may immediately come of it.

Governor White has asked the Mississippi legislature to give the matter "every possible consideration" and investigate all facts and circumstances involved.

Several other states have already adopted the policy of exempting low-cost homes from taxation, up to possibly $3,000 or $5,000, but this is the first instance of record in which it has been proposed that ALL homes be relieved of taxation.

As matters now stand in Ohio and many other states, taxation on homes contributes a large percentage of the revenues required for the operation of county, township and municipal government and it has not yet been regarded as practicable to consider even as much as a $3,000 homestead exemption.

When the value of a home-owning citizenship is considered, however, the advisability of moving toward some such accomplishment can scarcely be overemphasized.

New War on Infantile Paralysis.

THIS year finds the fight on infantile paralysis carried forward by a new foundation to which all the funds raised by the "birthday balls" will go. Formerly such funds were divided between the Warm Springs Foundation and local committees, the latter getting 70 per cent of the total.

What will the new foundation do? Paul De Kruif, in a long article on the subject, says first that it will carry on the fight against infantile paralysis in a way unique in American medical history. Its work will be national and planned, not scattered and helter-skelter. It will have adequate means for research. Doctors will be taught prompt diagnosis of the disease, before paralysis sets in, a factor which greatly facilitates treatment and prevention of deformity. Communities that lack orthopedic facilities will be helped with financial grants from the foundation.

There will be a research-planning board of top-ranking scientists whose purpose is to assist, financially and otherwise, researchers all over the country. Public health authorities and private physicians will share new information as fast as it is discovered.

Earlier Marriages Approved.

BACHELORHOOD apparently isn't what it's cracked up to be. Prof. George A. Works, dean of students in the University of Chicago, says the crime rate is more than twice as high for single men as for married men, and there is more insanity, for both sexes, among the unmarried than the married.

He thinks the higher educational system unduly postpones marriage. For those who go through college, especially those who take post-graduate work, there may be a fifteen-year gap between the time when people are marriageable—the "biological age for marriage"—and the time when they are able to marry. He wants to shorten this gap, so that students can marry before they are 25 years old.

It could be done, he says, by opening more colleges to married students, and reorganizing the college work so that students could get degrees in two years instead of four.

Helpful North Star.

EXPERT players at the annual national contract bridge tournament in Washington have a suggestion for persons whose game has been consistently poor. They are advised to "polarize" the table next time they sit down for a game. This is accomplished by turning one corner of the table toward the North Star.

It sounds simple, but one wonders. Might it not make a difference which corner is turned toward the pole? And how can this polarization help one pair of players without helping the other pair, too? And if it helps everyone equally—but that brings up another thought.

Perhaps what the international trade and peace conferences need is to polarize the tables around which the delegates sit. There is one place where it would be fine if all participants were successful.

Evidence secured by tapping wires has been ruled out—but thus far G-men are not required to permit a bandit to shoot first.

One hundred and thirty-five former strip-teasers are out of work—no longer able to eke out a bare existence.

GOING INTO A HUDDLE AT LAST?

More Supreme Court Retirements Predicted

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—Three more Supreme Court vacancies within a year will insure a minimum of five appointments to the high bench that President Roosevelt will have in his second term, as against none in his first four years. The three expected to follow Justice George Sutherland off the high tribunal are Justices Louis D. Brandeis, James Clark McReynolds and Pierce Butler.

Of these McReynolds and Butler are the last two of the real conservatives, Sutherland and Willis Van Devanter, with these two having made up the conservative front on the court. So that there will be only four men on the court not appointed by Roosevelt, and one of these four an out and out liberal—Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo. The remaining three, Justices Harlan F. Stone, Owen J. Roberts and Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes, are all more or less "in and outers," so to speak, so far as cleavage between progressivism and reactionism are concerned.

JUSTICE BRANDEIS is now past eighty-one. He has intended for some time to retire. Though regarded as the most liberal member of the high bench, he did not approve at all of the President's attempt to enlarge the court, and as a matter of fact supplied considerable of the ammunition used against the President in the Senate battle on that issue.

Justices McReynolds and Butler would have resigned some time back if they had not thought it their duty to remain. They distrusted the President's economic views, and did not wish to give him a chance to replace them with men who would go along with New Dealism.

But that fight is over. The President really defeated the conservatives on the Supreme Court the day he proposed to add six new justices. Most lawyers agree that it was this pressure which resulted in the high court's sustaining the Wagner Labor Relations act. They think it was this pressure which guided the court into much more liberal decisions on other cases than would otherwise have been made. Many senators think it was this same pressure which resulted in Justice Van Devanter's resignation, which was timed most strategically with respect to the senate fight.

There was some little regret about this afterward among the conservatives. Afterward it was apparent that this particular sacrifice was unnecessary—that the opponents of the President would have won anyway. That, of course, is a matter of opinion, but once Hugo L. Black became a justice there was no longer much doubt about how the court would go in any cases sharply drawing the conservative versus liberal line.

SO THE conception of patriotic duty which had caused Sutherland, Butler and McReynolds to remain on the bench, long after their personal inclinations were to resign, gradually faded. With Sutherland's passing and another New Dealer to succeed him; the duty of Butler and McReynolds to remain vanished.

Hence their retirements will come during 1938, probably at the end of the present term, in June, and Roosevelt will have the full responsibility for the Supreme Court as well as the administrative part of the government. He will have named an actual majority.

Most people have forgotten it, but George Sutherland was appointed to the Supreme Court by President Harding because of the tremendous regard the entire senate had for the Utah man as a result of his twelve years' service in that body. As a member of the foreign relations committee during the difficult period of American neutrality in the World War, and in Mexican, Panama Canal tolls, Colombian and Nicaraguan treaties, and other difficulties of that period, he won the very high esteem of his colleagues regardless of party lines.

Is It Disgraceful to Accept Charity?

ERNEST BASTIC JONES, age 25, of 1510 Ashland avenue, Baltimore, Maryland, thinks there oughtta be a law—

No, don't laugh! It isn't a gag—

A LAW ABOUT PEOPLE WHO ARE ASHAMED TO TAKE CHARITY!

"False pride like that is a menace," says Ernest. "Why, I've known men with families who actually refused to accept a WPA job because it 'hurt their pride.' As a result, their families suffered terribly. I also know people who refuse to go to the Old Folks Home for the same reason—and as a consequence spend their last years in misery.

"IS SUCH FALSE PRIDE HONORABLE? SHOULD WE HONOR ANY MAN WHO LETS HIS FAMILY SUFFER RATHER THAN GO ON RELIEF, OR SHOULD WE REGARD THEM WITH THE CONTEMPT THEY DESERVE?"

It's plainly evident that Ernest expects a Big Hand for his sentiments . . . and a Bronx cheer for those queer customers who refuse to patronize Relief Headquarters. But you can count me out, brother! Far from condemning citizens for their "false pride," I believe they should be awarded brass bands and congressional medals.

Time was when Charity was the most dreaded and detested term in our tongue. Nor so long since! We who are over thirty can easily remember when the person who accepted public aid, save in direst extremity, was regarded as a social outcast. Other breeds might take alms—and gloat at the chance—but not the American.

WE YANKEES STOOD ON OUR OWN HIND LEGS! If we accepted help, it was a guarded family secret . . . a neighborhood trust which friendly folk kept hidden out of compassion. But now? Now that independent attitude seems as remote and ridiculous as goatees and bustles. Millions of perfectly healthy human beings today regard a Dole as their legitimate right. Just try and stop giving it to them!

THE DARKEST HOUR IN OUR AMERICAN HISTORY WAS THAT WHEN WE REMOVED THE CONTEMPT FROM THE WORD 'CHARITY' AND GAVE IT SOCIAL AND POLITICAL SANCTION.

Organized Relief started in a time of pressing urgency and was, undoubtedly, a noble and necessary measure. But it has become the most dangerous activity in our program, and it is striking at the very roots of Democracy. Charity is as demoralizing for the one who GIVES as the one who GETS. Of the first, it makes a little Tin God, filled with patronizing complacency . . . of the other, a Professional Parasite, a Potential Revolutionist, envious, self-pitying and resentful . . . all set to bite the hand that feeds it.

Admitted, there are always extreme cases which need assistance. And for those sturdy citizens who, through no fault of their own, are forced to seek help, there should be only sincere sympathy and respect. But this idea of replacing the national backbone with a W. P. A. order is a device of the devil . . . and is raising Cain with every decent American standard.

BETWEEN THE ARMY OF THOSE WHO DEMAND RELIEF AND THOSE WHO DISPENSE IT, THE ORDINARY TAX-PAYING CITIZEN IS BEING GROUND TO DOG MEAT.

"False pride"—says you. Don't worry, Brother Jones. We'll soon have to search the museums to find any kind of pride, if the present Santa Claus regime continues.

Why Don't They—?

From the American Magazine

Put tiny spigots near the bottom of flower vases, so that one may drain off stale water without removing the flowers?

Mark fishing rods by inches, so that fishermen can readily measure their catch in the interests of law and truth?

Invent a camera that cannot be resnapped until a fresh film is rolled into place, so as to prevent double exposures?

Install a small magnifying glass beside the needle of a sewing machine to facilitate threading?

Issue loose-leaf checkbooks, so that one may go through the stubs and balance his accounts without the inconvenience of holding open the stub-book with his elbow?

Install libraries where books may be rented by the hour, in railway stations, restaurants, parks?

Print postage stamps on adhesive tape and sell them by the roll, so the glue won't have to be licked?

Causes of Near-East Unrest.

OPINION of informed observers of the Near East is that Great Britain's troubles with Arabs as well as France's less-publicized troubles are not due to "outside agitation"—namely, that of Italy. Unquestionably, Italy has been trying to win over the Arabs. But if Italy had a mandate over Arabs, it probably would have the difficulty that Great Britain and France are experiencing. Italy even is having difficulty in "pacifying" Ethiopia, after conquering that comparatively small nation.

The "trouble" in the Near East—which the Near Eastern people themselves do not believe is trouble—lies in their nationalistic awakening. They desire to become independent nations.

When the British began short-wave radio broadcasts to counteract popular Italian broadcasts, the Arabs merely remarked, "It takes something more fundamental than radio propaganda to cause the Arabs to feel kindly toward the British again—it requires a change in British policy."

And Britain cannot or dare not change its policy lest its empire fall in pieces.

ONE OBSERVER'S VIEW

An interesting commentary is presented in an article in Asia Magazine entitled "The Restless Near East," by Hans Kohn, Dr. Kohn, professor of Smith college, passed many years in the Near East.

Says Prof. Kohn:

"The Near East remains as restless in the twentieth century as it was in the nineteenth. But one essential difference stands out. The unrest of the Near East in the nineteenth century was produced from outside: the great powers of Europe played their game of politics at the expense and on the fields of the Near East.

"Economic changes, new means of communication, new ways of learning, pressed upon the Near East from the outside, alien to its life, unwelcome to its seclusion.

"In the twentieth century, and especially since the World war, the Near East has stirred from inside, politically, economically and intellectually. The restlessness of the nineteenth century, which the Near East underwent passively, brought dissolution and disintegration in its wake, the weakening of the vitality of the Near Eastern peoples and their institutions The new restlessness is different: it is a sign of regained vitality, of a new effort at integration and reconstruction under changing circumstances.

CALLING THE ROLL

Prof. Kohn calles the roll—and it is a significant list of nations (we give merely brief snatches of his enlightening comments):

"The victory of the independence movements in Turkey, in Iran and in Egypt, removed these countries from the cockpit of European intrigue and gave them the opportunity to turn their attention from outside relations to the very much needed inner reforms."

"At the end of October, 1937, Turkey celebrated the 14th anniversary of the foundation of the Turkish republic. During that month the Greek Prime Minister Metaxas came to Ankara to confirm the strong and lasting friendship, so surprising after 600 years of bitter fights . . ."

Prof Kohn says that a Balkan entente, including Iran, Afghanistan, Iraq and Turkey also will take in Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria. It "thus will have spread a net of firm amity and close cooperation of all the peoples between the Soviet Union in the north and the British sphere of influence in the Indian ocean, the Red sea and the Persian gulf."

One wonders, however, whether the Berlin-Rome axis will not muddy the soil. Rumania already has gone over to Hitler, and Yugoslavia may not be far behind.

EGYPT

Of Egypt, at present much stirred by nationalistic demonstrations:

"Where Turkey and Iran had arrived 15 years ago, Egypt arrived this year. The long struggle for independence has come to an end. The young King Farouk could, at the completion of his 18th year, ascend the throne as the first independent king of Egypt for many centuries. But he is not independent in the sense the Pharaohs were. He is strictly limited in his powers by a democratic constitution, by the will of the people which finds its expression in the trusted leader of the majority party in the Egyptian parliament. . . ."

Which is all right if permitted to work, but the other day the young king threw "the trusted leader of the majority" out. Perhaps the British had something to do with that.

As for Palestine (which the British probably wish they never had seen):

"The ultimate success (of the Arab countries to have unified nations) will depend upon the possibility of finding a solution to the Jewish problem in Palestine and the Maronite problem in Syria. That can be only the result of constructive and far-sighted statesmanship, but without it the old unrest, characteristic of the whole Near East 20 years ago, may continue for some time to make these regions a battleground of rival claims and ambitions."

The British probably have made their own trouble by making conflicting promises to both Arabs and Jews.

Timely Editorial

Success—And Friendship.

Men who have achieved unmistakable success are sometimes tempted to pass on to their successors their formula. Yet it is significant that out of the consensus of such confessions there can be contrived no sure definition of success nor a certain fashion of reaching it. It is as though some ingredient were denied declaration, for which reason success is no commoner than of yore and no easier of attainment.

The essential element which is often overlooked in the analysis of a successful career is the simple one of friendship. Men of destiny rarely rise unaided. Other hands and shoulders have helped their progress, have carried part of their burden and have opened their trial. Great men, indeed, have not only the talent and strength to achieve but also the inestimable gift of making and keeping friends whose loyal offices contribute opportunity and encouragement to the making of a successful man.

Friendship can give much and be itself no poorer, while the object of its services turns it to profitable account. All men need it, for no great man walks entirely alone and no little man can spare its kindly aid.—Fremont Messenger.

Livable Homes at Low Cost.

WASHINGTON—If what this country needs is more houses for less money, the Farm Security Administration can build them.

The trouble with farm security houses is that they are not broken in to city ways and probably would cause zoning authorities to hold up their hands in horror. But the houses are being built, farmers are living in them—and they don't look so bad.

Of course they are not Park avenue houses. Maybe they wouldn't even look so good on that choice lot in Doakes Corners, Iowa, but if anybody says they are not houses, they would be awfully mistaken.

An Arkansas House.

WHEN the Wagner housing bill and other housing bills (most of them are strictly Wagnerian) were before congress, there was a lot of talk about the impossibility of building worthy houses for less than $1,000 a room. The idea seemed to be that no self respecting stenographer or steel-puddler would live in a house costing less than $1,000 a room. And the fact of the matter appears to be that it is hard to build much of a house to fit city conditions under that figure.

Yet in Altheimer, Arkansas, the Farm Security Administration (FSA hereafter) built a nice 6-room house, painted it white and put a roof over it for less than $400 a room. Altheimer is a village in the Arkansas cotton country and has no chamber of commerce, so far as we have heard, nor a zoning commission, nor a Rotary club. It is, however, listed in the postal guide.

The Altheimer house has no inloor plumbing of consequence and the children will have to bathe in a tub of water heated on the kitchen range. But the place will shelter a substantial farm family until papa can install some of the plumbing in the year of the big harvest.

Just to prove the FSA was not fooling, it also built a six-room house in a rural section of Minnesota for $314 a room. It wasn't quite so fancy as the Arkansas house but almost equally roomy and would shed snow.

Cheaper In South.

OF COURSE the $2,372 house in Altheimer and the $1,885 house in Minnesota were not built according to the farmer's orders. They were built on a design carefully worked out by the FSA. Each was one of a number of houses in a resettlement project, mass production in a limited way. A portable sawmill was hauled up to the site of the community and it cut rafters, joists, flooring and staircases according to a pattern. Then a foreman took over, got a couple of farmers and nailed the house together atop a concrete foundation.

FSA says the houses are sound, will last many years and give good service. Altogether, 10,363 houses have been started by FSA and approximately half are finished.

As a matter of fact, the two houses mentioned above are high priced jobs. In the deep south where less weather-proof structures are required, costs are far less. A five-room house at Bishopville, South Carolina, has been built with sink, grease trap, electric wiring and sewage disposal, all for $1,362. That is $273 a room.

McIntyre's New York Day by Day

ONE of the knotty problems in sociology is the kept man. A recent survey revealed nearly 5,000 who live off the earnings of women. The majority reside in the area of the Roaring Forties or in the cross streets of the West Seventies.

Now and then some of them sprout up through the lower social strata to the top soil of Fifth and Park avenue, but mostly they consort on the seamier side. Oddly, there are not many Apollos among them. Rather are they pasty-faced, pinch-cheeked and weasel-eyed.

They are given to sartorial extravagances, the big checked, high belted overcoat and loud mufflers. Most are chain cigaret smokers but few drink to excess. This is reputedly due to the large percentage of drug addiction among them. They are meat for the dope sellers.

Rarely are they seen with their ladies who reside in the blowzy hotels and the shady apartment houses—the sort who stroll late at night with white poodles. Police regard such sordid panderers with deserved contempt, but that is about all they can do.

Bruce Barton in his recent successful campaign for congress surprised friends, business and political associates with his flair for fraternizing with all classes. A born silk stocking and living in a perfumed area, he was looked upon as a pink tea candidate. But he shucked all that and was soon hobnobbing in perfect ease with the news vendors, doormen, truck drivers and the boys around the corner at Jake's.

As a matter of fact, hautiness is almost a lost gesture. It belonged to another generation. The elder J. P. Morgan had it, while his son perched a circus midget on his knee. The most reserved to all outward appearances of the biggities is probably John D. Rockefeller. He never lets himself go, but is said to be amiable enough upon a firmer acquaintance. Actors of high rank in the old days were unapproachable. Such as John Drew and Richard Mansfield. But there is no longer a high handshake among theatrical or movie stars.

Speaking of hautiness, I think there is no deflation equalling that recent crack on a radio program when a comic, meeting a puffed up fellow, inquired: "What do you hear from the mob?"

Amiability, however, can be carried too far. Most of us shun the fellow to whom everything is perfectly dandy. Or if we accept him we are likely to cuff him around. My own choice in companionship is for the easy-going fellow, but I like him to freeze up once in awhile. When Abe Erlanger and Marc Klaw were theatrical partners they got along nicely, but if things were too smooth one or the other would kick up a violent row and after a session of desk pounding and exchange of epithets they might for several weeks transact business solely by formal notes. They found such ruckuses, like the electrical storm, cleared the atmosphere and improved their relationship. I think it was Somerset Maugham who declared his only objection to pipe smokers was that they were entirely too agreeable. Too full of whimsy.

Pipe smoking, by the way, seems on way to the drawing room. I saw a Tuxedoed diner with his lady light up a well-worn briar at the Colony after coffee the other evening without a frown from ever watchful Gene. Also a house dick at one of the de luxe hoteis declares he no longer murmurs a polite disapproval at a pipe user wreathing a few rings in the foyers. Yet I cannot forget our dog Clay who used to crawl under the house when a neighbor used to torch up on his front porch with a corncob in the evening.

Jerry Belcher, the radio interviewer, chivvied up the grandest of the Yule heart throbs, to my notion. He was interviewing the head of the returned goods department of a large store in Chicago. Toys are not returnable usually, so when a shabbily dressed, timid woman asked to exchange a doll for the 75 cents purchase price she was gently told the rule. Something in her manner caught his attention. He asked why she was returning the doll. In almost a whisper she murmured: "We lost our baby."

U. S. HAS DEADLY ANTI-AIRCRAFT ARTILLERY UNIT

Mechanically Controlled Guns Can Hurl 3 Tons of Steel In Air Per Minute.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The United States, whose air force is described as the most efficient in existence by Janes' "All the World's Aircraft," has a second deadly answer to attacks from the air.

It is the army's anti-aircraft artillery which, while lacking sadly in numerical strength, has displayed such technical progress that experts believe it capable of making important military areas invulnerable to raids by hostile aircraft.

Military observers watching the modern units shatter aerial targets at extreme ranges with an uncanny skill unmatched — at least publicly—by foreign forces, rate the United States among the world's leaders in the development of ground defenses against bombing planes.

Outstanding among the units of this invaluable branch of national defense is the 62nd coast artillery whose mission is guarding metropolitan New York from bombing raids.

3 Tons Per Minute.

Capable of hurling more than three tons of flying steel per minute from its mechanically controlled guns, the regiment's practice operations drew from observers the report that "in material, training and tactics, it is equal to or superior to similar units of foreign countries."

The secret of the anti-aircraft artillery's startling efficiency is in its closely guarded fire control equipment, $30,000 "mechanical brains" which compute from basic observations the position of enemy targets, and automatically aim the fast-firing cannon.

Through their use, skilled gun crews, relieved of the necessity of aiming their 3-inch guns manually, are able to fire them at the rate of 30 or more shots a minute, hurling 15-pound high explosive shells which literally blanket an area under fire with their deadly pellets of steel.

At night sound detectors and searchlights coupled to the "mechanical brains" give the regiments equally deadly striking power.

Fully mechanized, the modern anti-aircraft regiments move swiftly at speeds of 25 or more miles an hour, traveling in special trucks which carry the guns, men and equipment. The 62nd, based at Fort Totten, Long Island, traveled 167,000 vehicle miles from Jan. 1 to Nov. 16 last year.

Such forces, equipped with the new type guns and fire control instruments could, observers declare, under normal conditions protect any assigned area by destroying attacking aircraft, or forcing them to such great altitudes that effective bombing would be impossible.

The 62nd is the only regular army regiment of anti-aircraft artillery available on the Atlantic coast. The Pacific coast has one regiment of one-third strength, while similar skeleton forces are based at Fort Crockett, Tex., and Fort Sheridan, Ill.

CURIOSITY FATAL

Fugitive Youth Goes to Movie, Detectives Jail Him.

VANCOUVER, B. C.—(INS)—An unnamed youth who escaped from the British Columbia reformatory could not resist an "inside" view of another institution and as a result went back "home."

Detectives saw him purchase a theater ticket, followed him inside, and nabbed him as he sat spellbound by the events depicted on the screen.

The movie was the prison thriller "Alcatraz Island."

USES ONLY OXEN

MELBOURNE, Ark. — (U.P.) — Thomas "Uncle Tom" Hodge, 76, is late about discarding pioneer ways. This year he hauled three bales of cotton to the gin from his farm near here by means of oxen. He cultivated 24 acres of cotton, corn, sorghum and truck crops, using oxen. He never has used anything but oxen on his farm.

Chutes Save Two as Plane Drops

Two men cruised above Kansas City, Mo., in their plane. It went into a spin. They used their parachutes and pumped to safety. The plane, as you can see, rammed into a house. The flyers received merely slight injuries.

Silk-Clad Legs Taboo To Force Jap Boycott.

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—No silk-clad legs will be seen on the campus of the Lindenwood college, a girls' school at St. Charles, Mo., as the result of action taken by the student body.

The student body voted 289 to 84 against wearing silk hose in order to boycott Japan's principal export to the United States—silk—because it believes the invasion of China by the Nipponese is unjustified.

Cotton and lisle hose must be worn by all students. It was decreed, except on special occasions —such as dates.

CHECK THAT COLD IN THE DRY STAGE!

It's Much Easier Stopped in the First or Dry Stage Than in the Second or Third Stage!

A cold ordinarily goes through three stages.

(1) The Dry Stage, the first 24 hours.

(2) The Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days.

(3) The Mucous Secretion Stage.

A cold is twice as easy to stop in the first stage as in the second or third.

In fact, to let a cold run beyond the first stage may be to invite trouble.

The Thing to Take!

The preparation you want to take for all colds—any cold—is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets)!

Bromo Quinine tablets are expressly a cold treatment! They are not a "cure-all." They are made for colds and nothing else.

Bromo Quinine tablets are internal treatment and a cold is an internal infection!.

4 Effects in One!

Bromo Quinine tablets do four important things in the treatment of a cold.

First, they open the bowels.

Second, they check the infection in the system.

Third, they relieve the headache and fever.

Fourth, they tone the system and help fortify against further attack.

These four effects are what you want in a cold medicine.

Your Safe Bet!

Bromo Quinine tablets may be taken with confidence. They have been on the market for over 40 years and are the world's largest selling cold tablet.

Bromo Quinine tablets come in 35c and 60c sizes. The 60c size is the better "buy." Almost 20 per cent more for your money.

When you ask for Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets), insist upon getting what you ask for. It's your money you're spending!

Bureau Charges Negligence In Sinking of Steamer.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The commerce department's bureau of marine inspection and navigation has advanced formal charges against Captain Charles O. Brooks accusing him of negligence and incompetence, in connection with the sinking of his Chesapeake Bay steamer City of Baltimore on July 29.

The City of Baltimore was destroyed by fire in the middle of the bay. One passenger and two members of the crew were killed.

A special report on the accident was issued by an investigative board and simultaneously Commander R. S. Field, director of the bureau, announced he had prepared charges against Brooks, Chief Engineer Charles W. Simmons, and Second Engineer Albert Neill.

How 689 Water Heating Customers Reduced Their Gas Bills An Average Of 31%
--Yet Improved Their Hot Water Service
SAVE $14.00 ON FULL 24 GAL. SIZE DURING SALE

MANY of our customers have told us that replacing out-moded gas water heaters with an automatic storage type has not only improved their service but, also, has substantially reduced their gas bills. To learn the amount of these savings, we conducted a survey among 1000 customers who had installed this modern equipment. To eliminate the home heating factor we compared their gas bills for the summer months before and after they made the change.

Out of the total, 689 gas bills showed a decrease — and this decrease averaged 31 per cent, per customer. Inquiring why the remaining 311 customers did not make this saving, we found that they had increased their use of hot water because it was more readily available.

This survey has convinced us that you can save by replacing an out-moded water heater with an automatic gas fired storage water heater. Your saving will be reflected either in a reduction of your gas bill or in the convenience of increased hot water service. Install an automatic storage gas water heater in your home now while further savings are offered by an unusual price reduction. Easy payments if desired.

HOLDS INJURED CELL SECRETION CANCER CAUSE

Scientist Believes Discovery Step Toward Future Cure Of Dread Disease.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Tracing 10 years of experiments Dr. George Sperti, internationally-known scientist and director of the Institutum Divi Thomae, published in the institution's journal results of new researches showing that a direct cause of cancer lies in secretions given off by injured body cells.

"Quite definitely, we have no cure for cancer," said Dr. Sperti, "but, of course, that is a goal toward which we and many other scientists are working.

Steps Toward Cure.

"It may be a year, 10 years, or a century, before any cure for cancer is found, although we believe our discovery is a step toward that end."

Dr. Sperti, at 37, is a member of the Pontifical Academy of Sciences and has been recognized in the field of science since his early 20s.

Dr. Sperti modestly credited the find to two members of his staff, Dr. John R. Loofbourow and Sister Cecelia Marie Dwyer, S. C.

Dr. Loofbourow asserted the secretions given off by injured cells had been found to stimulate cell proliferation such as occurs in healing and that "cancer resembles an over-enthusiastically healing injury."

Dead cells, he said, did not expel the cancer hormone. Wounds, such as cuts or burns, kill most of the injured cells and malignancy does not result, but if large volumes of cells are injured over long periods of time, the production of stimulating products may be sufficient to cause malignancy.

Dr. Loofbourow said secretions given off by the injured cells caused nearby cells to multiply. Such growth, uncontrolled, he believes to result in cancer.

NEW UNDERWOOD MASTER MAKES ITS DEBUT IN TYPEWRITER FIELD

The Underwood Master, an entirely new business typewriter that defies tradition in its design, has been introduced to the American business world by this pioneer typewriter company.

Among the features of the Underwood Master is dual touch tuning. Instead of a single adjustment for touch, the Master offers two—one that provides individual tuning of each of the 42 keys to the fingertips of the typist—the other, which is keyboard controlled, varies the tension of all keys at the will of the operator and by a mere flick of the typing fingers.

The Master also has a completely sealed back, providing maximum protection against dust and injury, in addition to assuring quieter operation with no sacrifice of typing visibility.

The sealed back of the machine has a touch of streamlining that gives it eye appeal as well as improving the machine from a practical standpoint.

Every feature that has earned 27 world's typewriting championships for Underwood has been incorporated in the Underwood Master, T. G. Bigler, proprietor of Bigler's Adding Machine and Typewriter company, Mansfield agent for the company, says.

Today Underwood holds both the professional and amateur 1937 world's typing records established under official international contest rules at Toronto, Canada.

The new Master enables Underwood to offer three distinct choices in business typewriters. The Underwood Standard and the Underwood Noiseless are other models made by this company.

A demonstration of the new model can be obtained by calling Bigler's Exchange.

AIDS BUYERS

Book Proves Valuable Guide When Purchasing Home.

When the average couple purchases a home it is done chiefly as the result of a hit or miss appraisal. It seldom happens that purchasers are sufficiently equipped with specialized knowledge to determine what does and does not constitute a "good buy" in a house.

They may appreciate the value of the location, the general condition of the property, whether its architecture is good or bad and whether the interior provides living conditions which fit their needs.

All this no more than scratches the surface, so far as obtaining an accurate appraisal of a property is concerned. One should be informed on a great many points before venturing into negotiations looking toward an outright purchase. A book recently published should help a great deal. It is one written by Roger B. Whitman under the title, "First Aid for the Ailing House," and is published by McGraw Hill.

REMOVES PAINT

To avoid the permanent spotting of locks, door handles and other hardware when painting woodwork, cover their surfaces with a coating of vaseline before beginning to paint. All spatters of paint may then be easily removed with a dry cloth. Be careful, however, to avoid getting any vaseline on your brush as this may retard the drying.

Home of Mansfield Printing Company

With one of the largest shops in north central Ohio, the Mansfield Printing company is equipped to handle any size or amount of printing work. A drawing which indicates the size of the plant is shown above.

"There's no job too small or none too big for us," Manager George H. Smith says.

The shop turns out anything from business cards to the biggest of catalogues. It carries a large stock of paper as well as all sizes of envelopes which insures prompt delivery of orders.

The latest type faces suitable for commercial and industrial printing as well as 10 automatic presses of the latest design are among the other features of the company's plant at 76 East Fourth street. All work is under the personal supervision of Mr. Smith.

Fourteen employes skilled in the art of printing are on the company's payroll

'HARSH MORTAR' DRAWS BLAME

During the past 30 years leaks developing in brick walls have been more prevalent that for several centuries previous to that time according the brick manufacturing executives, who blame this condition on masons who, they declare, persist in using what they term "harsh mortars" with a high cement content, for the purpose of gaining a degree of strength which the brick men declare is not needed.

Just by way of argument, the brick men cite the United States Bureau of Standards as well as accredited colleges and technical schools in all parts of the country, as having established the fact that leaky walls seldom are the fault either of the brick or of the mortar separately, both of which are sufficiently impermeable in their own right to keep out moisture.

Bowling Proves Major Factor In Club's Activities

Bowling is usually an important factor among the activities of a well-organized service club, according to M. S. Meder, proprietor of Meder's Recreation alleys.

"If a member just goes to weekly luncheons or meetings he may learn to call the other fellows by their first names, but in many cases that's as far as their associations go," Meder contends. "It takes some outside activity like bowling to develop friendships.

"There's more informality in a game like bowling than there is at a meeting. Here there is a lot of friendly rivalry and everyone gets to know the other fellow better. For that reason those who bowl together regularly are usually the ones who take the greatest interest in their club because they have a real spirit of comradeship. It takes some activity to keep club members together and bowling is one of the best of these outside activities.

"In addition to that, bowling is a healthful recreation—not too mild for the more athletic type, and not too strenuous for the older person."

ANCHOR FOR RUG REDUCES DANGER

Just by way of introduction, did you know that rugs kill 17 times as many householders yearly as electricity? And that recently one insurance company alone paid within a year insurance for complete disability to 22,000 policies for accidents due to slippery rugs.

Complete elimination, in a practical way, of the slippery rug peril is now possible. For there is a new double action type of rug anchor which grips not on one side as before. It clings to the rug as hard as it does to the floor. And the harder you push the more firmly it grips. Each side of the material is a crepey sponge-like surface.

Highlights In Business, Industry

During the last four years the U. S. has acquired 14 billion ounces of silver, equivalent to more than eight times world production in 1934. The 16 trade agreements thus far negotiated, are with countries that took, in 1929, 37.3 per cent of our commodity exports. If the five countries with which we are now negotiating are added, the 21 will account for 54.8 per cent of 1929 exports. November merchandising exports of over $300 million brough the 11 month total to $3,026,872,000, over 35 per cent more than in the same 1936 period. The estimate of cash farm income has been modified to $8½ billion, still 8 per cent ahead of 1936. There are now almost 15½ million telephones in use as compared with 3.8 million in 1910, according to a recent statement by W. S. Gifford. $38 million of new securities became effective in November, compared with $266 million in November, 1936. Nearly 10,000 air-conditioned railway passenger cars are now being operated. The average freight train in 1937 covered 396.4 miles per day. It has been estimated that a total of about $5 billion is spent annually on vacation trips by some 50 million Americans. Land planted to corn and cotton tends to erode over 100 times as fast as land planted to grass or cover crops.

MODERNIZING LAMPS

Most lamps can be successfully modernizing by painting the bases and changing the shade. White is exceptionally popular for lamps now. A first coat of flat white is covered by two coats of semi gloss paint. A little umber added to the white lessens the glare. Top these bases with white shades and you will have a new and modern accessory for your room.

SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

Latest banking figures show that there are now approximately 42,500,000 savings accounts in all types of banks throughout the United States, with total deposits of about $23,500,000,000. The average sum in each account is $691.62.

Honse Planning Ultra-Modern Display Service

With the addition of new equipment, the Honse Sign Displays, 166 West Fourth street, plans to have the most ultra-modern display service in this section of the state.

The improvements include the latest machinery in modern methods of sign construction and lettering, permitting any size, shape or design to meet the customers demands.

Another addition to the types of signs is the silk screen which is superior in quality to the ordinary card type.

Mechanical displays also are a new line. They are an effective asset in dramatizing merchandise. These displays are of the latest designs and can be used effectively in show windows. They are planned carefully and are made to fit into show windows or floor space of any size required.

The studio occupies two floors. One is used for the construction of the signs and the other is for painting and printing.

Honse Signs offer service 24 hours a day. Their slogan is: "Modern business demands modern signs," and its studio is always open to visitors.

MORE INSURANCE

Industrial life insurance in this country in 1910 amounted to only about three billion dollars. In 1936 it totaled more than 19 billion. During the depression life insurance companies paid out 20 billion dollars to policyholders and beneficiaries.

WAGE BOOSTS

Since 1916, average annual earnings of all "Big Five" railroad brotherhoods have increased from $1,346 to $2,361. This is a wage increase of 75.4 per cent in 21 years.

SALES HIGHER

Retail Business In Nation Up 3 to 6 Per Cent In 1937.

Despite the rapid falling off of retail sales in the latter part of December and a manifest weakness in the early fall, 1937 showed from 3 to 6 per cent better retail sales totals than 1936. Christmas buying was not all that was hoped for but held up fairly well despite the business slump. Estimates of government forecasters is that 5 billion was spent in Christmas buying, almost ⅛ of total retail sales for the year and half again as much as in the first recovery year of 1933. Variety chains, in fact, were just about equal to 1936 levels.

November reports from rural areas showed a 5 per cent retail sales gain over 1936 in the far west, 7 per cent in the south, 3½ per cent in the east and 3 to 4 per cent in the mid-west. Considering the sharp decline in business since spring and the growing unemployment, this record is encouraging.

Time sales of automobiles fell off sharply during November and December; moderately in other lines, such as home appliances and furniture. Open credit accounts were not in as good condition as earlier in the year but, all things considered, were not a cause for alarm.

This year's farm income of $8—½ billion has been a large factor in the stimulation of retail sales.

'AIR CLEANING' TO AID EVERYONE

Health Service Estimates Savings When This Is Accomplished.

When science and industry finally devise means of "Cleaning the air," like it is being done by air-conditioning in many homes and buildings today the actual saving to every person in the United States will be between $10 and $30 a year.

That is the estimate of the United States Public Health Service, which has been studying air pollution throughout the country.

In some cities, the Public Health Service found that as much as 100 tons of dirt is contained in one cubic mile of air per year.

REPORTS RISE IN FARM PLEAS FOR U. S. HELP

Wallace Tells Senate Group 108,000 Rural Families Receiving Grants.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary Wallace told the senate unemployment committee today that pleas for federal financial assistance from farmers, particularly from the great plains region, had been "rising steadily" since July.

The cabinet officer said demands for subsustence grants averaging approximately $20 a month per family, had more than doubled rural relief spending since midsummer.

The area where needs are greatest, he said, are Montana, Wyoming, North and South Dakota, Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas and Nebraska.

Sees No Decrease.

He said 108,000 rural families received direct subsistence grants in December, adding there was little likelihood that this number would decrease before the next harvest season. These were in addition to families receiving rehabilitation loans.

The agriculture secretary listed four factors as contributing to rural assistance demands:

1. An increasingly serious drought condition in certain areas of the great plains.

2. A rapid decline in farm prices.

3. The industrial recession.

4. The displacement of farm labor by agricultural mechanization.

"If present dry weather conditions continue," he said, "relief needs in the great plains area may be increased to an unpredictable but potentially very large extent.

"Virtually every state in this area received less than normal precipitation during the fall of 1937. For example, in South Dakota, which has endured seven successive years of severe drought, rainfall during September, October and November was only 47 per cent of normal and this condition has not improved materially in recent weeks."

Wallace estimated that between 15,000 and 20,000 agricultural laborers were thrown out of work in Iowa alone this fall due to use of mechanical corn pickers.

Senate unemployment investigators, meanwhile, asked six leading auto manufacturers to tell how many men they had on the payroll on Labor day, Dec. 1 and Jan. 1.

Asserts Average Inmate Has Been In School 6 Years

Methods used in teaching inmates and in conducting vocational training at the Ohio State Reformatory were explained at Tuesday's Rotary meeting by A. T. Sneeringer, superintendent of schools at the institution.

With the average age of inmates approximating 22 years and with the average of schooling between sixth and seventh grade, difficulty is encountered in fitting instruction to the needs of each individual. A few inmates reach the institution without ever having attended school, the speaker stated.

Vocational work carries through preparation for a number of different trades, with furniture making as the largest of the reformatory activities.

It was also revealed that of all admissions to the reformatory during the past year, 26 per cent were sent from Cuyahoga county and a total of 66 per cent from the eight Ohio counties (including Cuyahoga) which contain the largest cities of the state. Eight counties sent no inmates during the year, leaving 72 counties to account for the remaining 34 per cent.

Clarence H. Small was chairman of the meeting, at which W. L. Miller, club president, presided.

PRINCESS SHOWS NEEDLEWORK

Elizabeth Graduates To Knitting Baby Jackets.

LONDON—(AP)—Princess Elizabeth, who some day may reign over the British empire, is a "graduate" knitter.

She and her sister, Princess Margaret, for some time knitted scarves in the "one plain one pearl" style, but Princess Elizabeth has graduated to baby jackets, while her sister still does scarves.

At the recent exhibition of Queen Mary's Needlework Guild, Elizabeth sent a pale blue baby's jacket and Margaret contributed a salmon pink wool scarf.

GETS 'HOT SEAT'

Judge Squirms Over Practical Joker's Act.

SACRAMENTO, Cal. — (INS) — Municipal Judge Clarence Terry of San Diego is on the lookout for a practical joker who gave him the "hot seat."

The joker smeared the cushion of his judicial throne with oil of mustard causing his honor no end of discomfort. Terry first noticed the burning sensation as local citizens filed past him in answer to traffic citations.

Finally he could not stand it (or sit) no longer and investigated.

"I guess someone was trying to put me on the 'hot seat'," Terry mused.

COURT FINES 4 FOR GAMBLING

Proprietor Assessed $60 on Two Counts; Others Draw Penalties of $5.

Three men arraigned in municipal court today on gambling charges were fined and a fourth, alleged owner of the place raided by police Saturday night, was fined on two different counts.

The men who gave their names as Arthur Parker, William Williams and Ray Shaban, were fined $5 each when they pleaded guilty to charges of gambling.

Sam Kamber, proprietor of the Main Coffee shop 245 North Main street was assessed $50 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of having an open bottle of liquor in his place of business. He was convicted on a charge of permitting a gambling game in his place of business and was fined $10 and costs.

The four were arrested Saturday night when Detectives Harry Copper and E. C. Fuller forced entrance to a rear room of the Coffee house. They said they found the men playing cards for money and an open bottle of whiskey beneath a counter in the front of the shop.

HEADS SOCIETY

Fremont Man Named President at Bucyrus Meeting.

BUCYRUS—Dr. Moore of Fremont was elected president when the North Central Ohio Chiropractic society held its annual meeting Sunday at the Hotel Weaver.

Speakers for the day were Dr. Zene Tozer of Cuyahoga Falls, president of the Ohio State Chiropractic association, and Dr. O. L. Brown of Akron, president of the National Chiropractic association.

Other officers elected to head the group in 1938 were Dr. W. E. Minor, Upper Sandusky, vice president; Dr. L. J. Darr of Oak Harborn, secretary-treasurer.

While members of the group wee in their business session, the Women's Auxiliary met under the leadership of Mrs. L. J. Darr of Oak Harbor. Mrs. L. D. Sneid of Sandusky, president of the women's group, gave a talk and demonstration.

Sixty attended the meeting.

DENIES $200 'LOVE SALE'

Clevelander Accused of Pact to Sell Ex-Wife's Affections.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — William Austin, 27, was accused today of contracting to sell the love of his divorced wife for $200 to Albert Sassler, 36-year-old grocer.

Sassler in a written statement to police said Austin gave him an agreement whereby Sassler would be allowed to continue a friendship with Mrs. Opal Austin, 26, upon payment of $200. The grocer said he paid $25.

Austin, on preliminary hearing, pleaded innocent to an extortion charge and was placed under $1,000 bond for appearance Jan. 24.

CLUB MEMBERS TO SEE MOVIE

LUCAS—Members of the Young Women's Mission Study club of Lucas will see a motion picture entitled "Below White Top," depicting life in the southern mountains, at a meeting at 7:30 p. m. today at the home of Mrs. Robert Bammerlin.

The program, which will be in charge of Miss Esther Barnett, vice president of the club, will deal with missionary work in the Virginia and North Carolina mountains.

HOLDS ELECTION

Senior Hi-Y Club Names Officers for Second Semester.

Officers for the second semester of the school year were elected at a meeting of the Senior Hi-Y club club last night at the Y. M. C. A.

Those chosen were Warren Rupp, president; Richard Shaw, vice president; Robert Rhoades, secretary, and William Ahrent, treasurer. Rupp will succeed Fred Lewis as president of the group. Trueman Clark and Fred Hanson were appointed to select a hockey team from the membership to take part in a hockey carnival Saturday at North Lake park.

BLIZZARD ON WAY INTO OHIO

Major Storm Heading This Way, Says Forecast; 2 More Inches of Snow Falls.

west—one which struck suddenly Jan. 11, 1888, causing the loss of thousands of lives.

Sprinkled with 25 tons of salt and with 20 men working with six trucks and two snow plows, Mansfield streets today emerged from the heavy covering of snow and slush.

Most of the snow had been removed from main intersections by noon. Four men worked all night spreading salt on the streets, Donnell D. Orewiler, superintendent of streets, said.

In the county, Arthur Fletcher, local superintendent of the state highway department, said there were 48 men at work manning 11 snow plows and five cinder trucks. All main routes were open, he said.

Added to the snow-fighting forces were the county road department's eight plows and two maintainers which cleared the heavy snow from county routes.

The road and street workers were aided by moderating temperatures which stayed near the freezing point most of the night and mounted to 36 degrees at noon today. The low during the night was 27 degrees above zero and the average was normal at 29 degrees.

Rain, which was predicted for tonight in some sections of the state, held a threat of floods, and county road officials feared damage to bridges should the rainfall be heavy enough to melt the snow.

DIXIE BECOMES A PLAIN 'MRS.'

She Drops Title of Senator; Gives It To Hill.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Dixie Bibb Graves of Alabama is dropping her title of "senator" for one she likes much better; just plain "Mrs."

She resigned from the senate late yesterday to make way for Lister Hill, appointed to the post after he won the Democratic nomination.

Mrs. Graves said she wouldn't "have missed the experience for anything," but she's glad to be going back "to the best state in the union," where she's known to everyone as "Miss Dixie."

Her husband, Gov. Bibb Graves, appointed her senator in August when Hugo L. Black went to the supreme court.

BOARDS ELECT

GALION—At a meeting of stockholders of The Commercial Savings Bank company, and The Guaranty Savings and Loan company, John A. Beall was elected to fill the vacancy on the board of directors of both institutions, made recently by the death of M. A. Curtiss. All other directors of both institutions were re-elected as follows: George R. James, C. W. Tracht, Earl Clements and E. B. Beall.

The business of the year was reported favorable, earnings and deposits in both institutions showing large increases.

GETS $10 FINE

ASHLAND—A fine of $10 and costs was imposed on Roy Brinker of near Ashland when arraigned before Justice of the Peace M. O. Poorman, on charges of being drunk and disorderly.

The defendant was charged with using abusive and threatening language to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brinker.

INFANT BURIED

ASHLAND — Private funeral services for Anna Belle Garber, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Garber of 506 Vine street, who died Sunday at noon, shortly after birth, were held Monday afternoon at the home. Burial was made in Ashland cemetery.

DAIRY 'QUEEN'

Holstein Produces 1,252 Pounds Of Butter In Year.

BRECKENRIDGE, Minn.—(AP)—A new queen of the dairy world, Femco Alma, purebred Holstein of outstanding butter producing ability, was crowned today.

By producing 1,252.5 pounds of butter during a year's test, Femco Alma became the record holder among junior two-year-old cows of all breeds and the only cow less than that age producing more than 1,250 pounds of butter in 365 days.

ONE MORE DAY

Hurry With Suggestions For Ohio Question Night.

Wednesday is the final day on which entries may be submitted in the contest to find a name for the question night which the Ohio theater will sponsor every Thursday night, beginning Jan. 20.

On each Thursday night $15 in cash will be awarded to persons on the stage making the highest score in answering questions. Persons who send in questions that are used in the contest, along with the correct answers, will receive two free tickets to the Ohio.

The theater and The News-Journal want to find a suitable name for this question night. The name "Quiz Night" is barred because it belongs to a radio program. The name should be short, snappy and to the point.

Five dollars in cash will be awarded to the person submitting the winning name. All entries must be in the hands of the Question Editor, News-Journal, by 6 p. m. Wednesday.

DRAW UP PLANS FOR FUND DRIVE

Trustees Pick Committee to Draw Up Campaign Program.

First plans for the 1938 Community Fund campaign were discussed last night when trustees and members of the executive committee met in the Sherman room of the Public library.

Although no dates were set, it was decided to hold the campaign in May. A committee named to select leaders and set up a campaign program, includes Fred Chamberlain, Norman Wolfe, Arthur Courtney, Carlton Fernyak and H. T. Siegenthaler.

The new committee and the executive group will meet in the Sherman room next Monday to study plans for organizing the campaign.

TAX COLLECTION TO OPEN JAN. 20

Morrow County Treasurer Says State School Set-Up Cause of Delay.

MT. GILEAD — William A. Piper, Morrow county treasurer, has announced that the books for the collection of the first half of 1937 real estate taxes will not be opened until Jan. 20. Approximately two weeks will be required to transfer the individual real estate charges to the books for collection.

The delay in collecting 1937 taxes has resulted from the insistence of state department of education officials that tax rates in all school districts must be at least 10 mills, if the districts are to participate in the school foundation program, Piper said. Rates were originally set in November but were altered in all but one rural school district in order that the districts might continue to receive payments from the public school fund.

Gilead township schools, with a surplus of several thousand dollars in the treasury, was the one exception, the board deciding to forego state aid rather than raise the district rate, the lowest in the county.

Safety Director Donates Blood to Ailing Relative

Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert, a little wobbly in the knees today and suffering from a slight headache, knows the price paid for being the "good Samaritan"—but it may save a life.

At General hospital yesterday he gave more than a pint of blood for a transfusion for a cousin, Mrs. George Kern, wife of the real estate dealer, who is seriously ill.

Styert went to the hospital shortly after noon for a blood test and had just returned to his office when he was called, stating that his blood had matched and that he was wanted at the hospital at once.

"I have had a slight headache all morning," Styert said, "and I feel a little weak, but if a pint of blood will save a person's life I'll be thankful."

The hospital reported Mrs. Kern's condition today as "unfavorable."

GLATTKE SPEAKS TO ROTARY CLUB

SHELBY—Arthur L. Glattke, Mansfield reformatory superintendent, was the guest speaker yesterday at the regular weekly session of the Rotary club at the Weaver Inn.

John R. Miller introduced Glattke as a former member of the old Shelby Blues football team. He spoke on the work being accomplished at the reformatory.

OFFER COURSE

ASHLAND — Ashland county farmers will be offered a complete course on poultry raising in a series of instructional courses to begin Feb. 9 under the auspices of the county agricultural extension service.

The courses will start Wednesday evening Feb. 9 and will continue each Wednesday evening until March 9. The meetings will be held in the assembly room of the Ashland county courthouse.

OK'S TRANSFER

ASHLAND — Permission to transfer $229.58 from the bond retirement fund to the road and bridge fund was granted to the trustees of Orange township at a hearing held in the Ashland common pleas court.

The petition had asked for the transfer because the bond fund was no longer needed, and there was no sinking fund in which to transfer it.

GALION STUDIES PLAN TO REVIVE CHARITY AGENCY

Clubs Hear Proposal to Have Community Chest Replace All Other Drives.

GALION—A proposal to revive the Community Chest plan for welfare organizations in Galion was presented at a joint meeting of the city's three civic clubs, Kiwanis, Rotary and Business and Professional Women's club last night.

H. T. Jackson of the Rotary club presented the proposal, and said that a revival of such a drive would take the place of all charitable drives in Galion during the year, and that no additional drives for charity would be necessary. No action was taken on the matter.

Nearly 125 were present for this joint meeting which opened at 6:30 with a banuet in the basement of First Lutheran church. The dinner and decoration of the tables was planned by the B. and P. W. club.

Presidents Introduced.

The evening's program was held in the church assembly room when Miriam Ransdell of the B. and P. W. club introduced the presidents of the three clubs: Elizabeth Bland of the Business and Professional Woman's club; M. D. Bonsteel of the Rotary club, and C. L. Morkel of the Kiwanis club.

Miss Bland told of the objectives of the women's group. This was followed by a musical presentation in charge of Helen Britton. A glee club comprised of 12 women, and four costumed soloists, Florence Durtschi, Veronica Kelley, Josephine Tracht and Helen Britton, with Dorothy Plack at the piano, and Louise Lorentz directing, presented several numbers.

C. E. Hill represented the Rotary club in presenting the club's objectives, and this was followed with H. T. Jackson presenting the Community Chest idea.

Rev. P. E. Auer, Ohio district governor of Kiwanis, represented the Galion Kiwanis club, telling of the accomplishments of Kiwanis International, and the objectives of the club.

The entertainment feature which closed the program was the appearance of C. M. Layton of Wooster, humorist.

Committee chairmen in charge of arrangements for this meeting were: Harry Jackson, of the Rotary club; E. R. Pickering and C. L. Ailes, of Kiwanis and Miriam Ransdell, Genevieve Ernst and Helen Britton of the B. and P. W. club.

A Farmer's Diary

January 10.

THE SNOWFALL of yesterday was deep, and told many tales of the fields and woods. Tracks everywhere, each with an individuality of its own. I took up the trail of a rabbit.

The leaps seemed to me of considerable length. As I followed farther into the open field, they grew shorter. This was odd. It was not like these creatures run when undisturbed. I looked about for some clue. Just a short distance to the side of the trail was another track. This showed evidence of a stranger kind of animal a smaller rodent with dainty feet and lengthy body. A race was on, and I could feel tragedy ahead. The poor rabbit apparently dragged itself along as if almost paralyzed. There no more than 20 feet ahead I saw a bunch of fur blowing in the wind. It was the rabbit with his throat torn. There was blood upon the snow. A weasel evidently had found its prey, and in full satisfaction returned home and is now sound asleep in his burrow.

"Nature is red in tooth and claw."

CITY ASKS RAIL LINE TO PUT UP CROSSING GUARD

Styert Sends Letter to B. & O. Requesting Safety Device On Bowman Street.

City officials today had taken definite steps to provide for protection of the Bowman street grade crossing of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, scene of a fatal automobile-train crash last Friday.

Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert sent a letter to F. D. Batchellor, division engineer of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at Newark, pointing out the need of flasher lights at the crossing.

Styert said he had been advised by City Solicitor Marion D. Ward to communicate with the railroad before taking the request to the State Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Cites Need.

In pointing out the need for protection at the crossing on one of Mansfield's busiest throughfares, Styert said that he felt "the absolute need of some safety device" at the grade crossing.

Styert called the railroad's attention to the fact that a fatal accident had occurred only recently and asked "elimination of the hazard without unnecessary time and trouble to either the city of Mansfield or the Baltimore and Ohio railroad."

In requesting an early reply, Styert said he would wait word from the railroad before taking any action before the utilities commission.

The fatal crash occurred last Friday at 7 a. m. when Joseph F. Uhlich, well known baker, drove onto the unprotected crossing in the path of a freight train.

ARCHITECT FOR SCHOOL NAMED

Mansfield Man to Draw Plans For $80,000 Annex to Shelby High Building.

SHELBY— Announcement was made today of the selection of Harry J. Brumenshenkel of Mansfield as architect on the $80,000 Shelby high school extension project by C. G. Keck, superintendent of Shelby schools.

The extension will relieve present over-crowded conditions, and increase facilities for additional students next fall. The centralization of rural schools increased the enrollment by 200 this season, Keck stated, and an additional 300 are expected next year.

The removal of the seventh and eighth grade pupils of Central elementary schools to the high school building is also planned next year, Keck stated.

In addition to class rooms, the annex will include a modern cafeteria and music room.

Work on the expansion program will get under way as soon as weather permits in the spring.
